Aeroplane Crash In Ontario Investigated

St. Catharines, Ont., Sept. 16.—An inquiry into the crash of the Travelair plane near Lock 15 of the Welland Canal Saturday night, in which six persons lost their lives, is being held to-day by J. A. Wilson, Federal director of civil aviation. The result will not be made public until the report has been received by the Minister of Defence at Ottawa.

The bodies of three of victims will be buried to-day. All were badly burned.

All day yesterday special police guarded the wreckage of the plane against would-be souvenir hunters.

THE CAUSE OF THE accident which forced the plane to descend before it had reached proper altitude for the flight which it had just started is only a matter of conjecture.

While the report of the board is pending various theories are being advanced. A rather plausible theory is that Pilot "Doc" Bradfield, who perished with all his passengers, discovered his engine was not functioning properly and although he was able to rise above the trees and high voltage wires, was not able to soar high enough to make a safe turn back toward the new airport from which he had taken off. It is estimated by some who have examined the scene of the accident and have conversed with the lock tenders who saw the machine crash, that Bradfield decided to make a forced landing and picked out flat and marshy land for that purpose. The theory then goes as far as to include a panic among the passengers.

MAY HAVE BEEN INTERFERED. Pilot Bradfield's plane had dual controls and there was a vacant seat beside him. It is believed one of the frightened passengers seized the vacant control and interfered with the

VANCOUVER MAN KILLS CHILDREN AND HIMSELF

Vancouver, Sept. 16.—William Campbell Phillips, thirty-seven, a quiet-mannered machinist, ran amuck with a hatchet in his home on East Third Avenue here early this morning, killed his daughter, Joan, aged ten, and his four-year-old son, Eric, slashed at his wife's face and head, then to conceal traces of his crime, set fire to his house, and ended by committing suicide. The widow, Lily Phillips, thirty-three, is lying unconscious and in a critical condition in a hospital.

Mrs. Phillips saved her life by jumping from a second story window into the backyard. She was gashed in the neck and suffered a fracture of the jaw.

Phillips committed suicide by cutting his throat.

None of the principals witnessed the murders. Mute evidence of what happened was revealed to firemen who went to the scene in answer to an alarm. The basement was in flames. Rushing upstairs, the firemen found Joan and the body of Eric in a front bedroom. The boy was dead, but the little girl's eyelids fluttered as she was carried out, though she was unconscious.

New York, Sept. 16.—Jack Noonan, brother of Sally O'Neill and Mollie O'Day, motion picture actress, was in custody to-day, having been arrested here yesterday at the request of Sheriff William Traeger of Los Angeles, whose telegram said Noonan recently was indicted in Los Angeles on charges of burglary and receiving stolen goods.

Noonan carried his right hand in a sling as the result of the amputation of the middle finger. Police said Noonan recently was indicted in Los Angeles about three months ago. Noonan said there were three men and three women in the party and he did not want to enter the cafe because of a previous "unpleasant experience" there.

Noonan was the technical director of "The Patent Leather Kid," in which movie his sister, Mollie O'Day, appeared with Richard Barthelmess.

Mill Bay Ratepayers Unite in Protesting School Policy

Large Meeting Opens Campaign Against Consolidated School Plan

United in the belief that Hon. Joshua Hinchcliffe was supporting objectionable methods whereby Plantagenet Consolidated School District was recently created by a combination of Mill Bay, Sylvestria, Cobble Hill and Bench School Districts, practically the whole of the resident ratepayers of Mill Bay district met on Saturday evening at the Mill Bay School.

Without debate, resolutions setting up a committee to fight for withdrawal of the district from the consolidation scheme, were adopted.

Twenty-seven ratepayers were present, and a large number of proxies were also tabled from Mill Bay ratepayers, resident in all parts of British Columbia.

The meeting was under the chairmanship of Trevor Keene, with Wingate White as secretary. Both were tendered the thanks of the meeting for their labors to prevent inclusion of Mill Bay in the new Plantagenet School District.

AWAIT NEW LAW

The resolutions were as follows: Moved by T. Lockwood and seconded by Capt. A. T. Westhead:

"Be it resolved that whereas the Hon. the Minister of Education has publicly stated that the intention of the Government is to introduce a measure into the Legislature during the forthcoming session, to equalize the distribution of school taxation, this meeting of the ratepayers of the Mill Bay School District is opposed to combining with other school districts in any scheme for the consolidation of public school grades, until such time as the Government shall have brought down the impending legislation and the taxpayers be in a position to estimate the liabilities which they may be asked to assume."

TRUSTEES NAMED

Moved by V. H. Stewart McLeod and seconded by Capt. A. D. Westhead:

"Be it resolved that this meeting of the ratepayers of the Mill Bay School District elect a board of representatives to consist of Mrs. E. H. Keene, George Parkinson and W. H. Stuart, to bring the purpose of this meeting to the attention of the Government."

FINANCE MEN CONGRATULATE B.C. ELECTRIC

Victoria Engineering Staff Will Carry Out Campbell River Survey

Indicating the keen attention being directed towards all aspects of development of British Columbia, W. G. Murrin, president of the British Columbia Electric Railway Company Limited, has received many telegrams of congratulation upon the decision of the Provincial Government to entrust his company with the task of preparing a complete scheme of development of the "Campbell River water power resources."

Town Is In Path Of Forest Fire In Oregon

Estacada, Ore., Sept. 16.—Raging uncontrolled, a forest fire was sweeping along this city this afternoon before a high southeast wind.

While the town was in no immediate danger at 1:15 o'clock, much concern was felt for its ultimate safety.

Two hundred fire-fighters in the Ladue district five miles from Estacada, were cut off from communication to-day by destruction of forest service telephones, and had not been heard from since yesterday noon. They were believed safe.

All roads into the district are blocked by fallen trees and burning limbs.

Able-bodied men in the community have been placed on the fire lines.

PANIC SEEN

Partial panic seized Estacada as the fire on a ten-mile front appeared to be absolutely beyond control. In many cases men on the fire line deserted to hurry back to their homes that they might save their own personal belongings.

Estacada is a town of from 1,800 to 2,000 persons, on the Clackamas River. It consists especially of two main streets, both well blocked out with good store buildings. The residence district has many fine homes, some of them summer homes for wealthy Portlanders.

French Troops Will Not Take British Soldiers' Places as They Leave

Paris, Sept. 16.—London reports to the effect that French troops would replace British troops in the Rhineland as the British evacuated their posts were denied by The Quai d'Orsay to-day. It was explained the stories published in London and repeated in Paris had as their basis only the plan for the Rhineland High Commission to transfer its offices from Mayence to Wiesbaden, where it would naturally leave a small military establishment, belittling its dignity.

REPORT UNFOUNDED

London, Sept. 16.—Authoritative quarters this afternoon stated there was no foundation for the report that Secretary of War Shaw had summoned Lieut-General Sir William Thwaites, commander of the British troops in the Rhineland, for a conference in London in consequence of the reported intention of the French Government to occupy Wiesbaden when the British troops leave.

NO FEDERAL ELECTION PLANNED FOR NEXT YEAR

Montreal, Sept. 16.—Possibility of a Federal general election in 1930 is remote. Premier King, speaking to reporters when he arrived here from Quebec yesterday aboard the steamship Montcalm in company with Hon. P. C. Larkin, Canadian High Commissioner in Great Britain, said:

"We are not obliged to go to the country before November, 1931, and the country seems to be pretty well contented."

He said it was almost certain an Empire Economic Conference would be held at Ottawa next summer.

Two planes from the St. John, N.B., Flying Club and two more from the Atlantic Airways are searching for Reed, who when started was bound across the bay to Nova Scotia.

Information received at National Defence headquarters early to-day left the impression the lost man was a seaplane pilot, but this was corrected later.

"SYNCOPIATION" ON SCREEN AT DOMINION NOW

Songs and Dancing Feature Latest Peppy Talking Film

Careers of Broadway Dancers Followed in Tuneful Picture

"Syncoption," first of the Radio pictures, which opened at the Dominion Theatre to-day is one of the happiest shows of the current season. It is a piece full of charm and melody and color and heart interest, rollicking and rocking with the lift and lift of jazz, golden with the mellow songs of superb vocal artists, peppy with chorine cavortings—a brilliant and romantic musical extravaganza in film form.

"Syncoption" is derived gorgeously from "Stepping High," the novel by Gene Markey, and whirled tunefully about the careers of the team of Dardel and Sloane, a pair of Broadway hoofers, wedded, and striving for Broadway honors. Their vari-colored careers take them from the small time haunts to the cabarets and musical comedy atmosphere of New York with all the temptations, heart-breaks, jealousies, fears and bursting glories of the world of make-believe. And of Barbara Bennett and Bobby Watson playing these leading roles one finds laughs and tears enough for several evenings of big and soul-satisfying entertainment.

PAGE PLAYERS WILL PRESENT RANCH STORY

Popular Stock Company Will Appear in "The Boss of the Ranch" at the Coliseum

On Screen Will Be Shown "Q Ships" a Story of Mystery Vessels During the War

Commencing their fourth week in Victoria, the Mildred Page Players will present "The Boss of the Ranch" on the stage at the Coliseum Theatre, opening to-night at 8:30 o'clock. There will be performances every night at this time with matinee shows on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons. On the screen this week the feature attraction will be a picture, entitled "Q Ships," a story of the mystery cruises during the Great War.

Since coming to Victoria four weeks ago, the members of the Page stock company have become popular with Coliseum patrons. All the members of the cast are clever actors and actresses, who so far have been seen in a number of highly entertaining roles. Miss Ruth Albright showed last week that she is a capable comedienne. In the role of a lovable old negro mammy she was splendid, and proved to last week's audiences that she is an actress that can assume any role, and handle it with equal ease. Miss Mildred Page, of course, needs not very much said about her, for she is well known on the local stage, and since returning to Victoria has given even more delightful performances than when last here seven years ago. Miss Page is naturally gifted with a winning personality with a charming accent and pleasing diction which considerably helps to make her the popular actress that she is.

Miss Crystal Lee has also won many friends and admirers during her comparatively short stay here and again this week will have a pleasing part. The male members of the company have also won great popularity. Horace Lantz, the leading man, is already a prime favorite, both for his good looks and acting ability. J. Barrie Norton is the comedian of the cast and has been seen in a number of comic roles: Phil Kieffer, Paul Barclay and Arthur Siegfried are the other members of the cast who will be seen this week in "The Boss of the Ranch."

"Q Ships" is an authentic story of these far-famed vessels which played such an important part in the Great War. It is a thrilling and exciting and shows the perilous adventures of these ships and the crews that manned them.

Golf Champion In Leading Role At The Playhouse

Walter Hagen Is Star of "Green Grass Widows," Now Showing

Walter Hagen, the popular golf champion who is the star of "Green Grass Widows," the "Tinsy-Tansy" comedy now being shown at the Playhouse Theatre, always knew he wanted to play golf. His secondary ambition was to be an inventor, and so his first designing his own clubs, keys in with his second infant ambition. A golf club a block from his Rochester, N.Y., public school doubtless shaped his career considerably. Planning to each to-day found the National Golf Club, following his winning of the national open championship, the Hagen family persuaded him to go into the bond business.

Constance Lewis In "Coney Island" Here This Week

Sister of Lois Wilson Makes Good in Movies; Now at Columbia

Relatives of stars often break into the movies incognito and many of them not only get in but actually make good.

The case of Constance Lewis, sister of Lois Wilson, is representative. Miss Wilson had another sister who had already made good in pictures under the name of Diana Kane, and Constance believed she could do the same. Therefore, when Miss Wilson announced one evening that she did not have to report on the set for two days, Connie saw her opportunity.

She applied at the casting office of PEO studios and applied for work. She did not divulge her identity, but used the name Lewis.

Constance Lewis is now a "regular" and appears at the Columbia Theatre where "Coney Island" is playing this week.

PRINCE RUPERT AUDIENCE HEARS HON. J.H. KING

Federal Minister Speaks There During Northern B.C. Tour

Prince Rupert, Sept. 16.—Touring northern British Columbia, Hon. J. H. King, Minister of National Health and Pensions, addressed a large audience here Saturday night, other speakers being J. W. de B. Farris, K.C., and O. Hansen, Liberal candidate. Mayor McMorris was chairman.

Dr. King spoke of the appointment of Herbert Marler as Canada's first Minister to Japan, saying all of the Dominion, and especially British Columbia, would benefit.

One of the big things to the credit of the King Government was the routing of grain by the Pacific. He believed the time would soon come when Prince Rupert would need another elevator.

He could not understand the attitude of Hon. R. B. Bennett, Federal Conservative leader, on the Fraser salmon treaty, which would be of very great importance to the Province.

Speaking of fish traps, Dr. King said the question was still open and nothing final would be done until the matter was given most careful study.

The stars of "Twin Beds" are seen to better advantage in this attraction and their dialogue is greatly improved. A good all-talking comedy entitled "Vital Subjects," features the famous musical comedy star, Charles Butterworth, in the leading comedian's role. The Paramount sound news completes the bill.

Prince Rupert Woman Shot

Prince Rupert, B.C., Sept. 16.—The body of Mrs. Alice McKay was found in her home on Fraser Street late Saturday night, with a bullet wound in the right temple. Nearby lay a 22-the right temple. Discovery of the body was made by Emil Wieg, a boarder at Mrs. McKay's home, upon his return after several hours' absence. Mrs. McKay was the wife of Mr. McKay, fisherman, who is at present out of town. She came here twenty years ago from Minnesota.

MANITOBA DEATH

Deloraine, Man., Sept. 16.—William Chambers, former mayor of Deloraine and prominent in political and business circles in Manitoba for many years, died here yesterday. Born in Sarnia, Ont., Mr. Chambers came to Deloraine in 1902. He was twice unsuccessful Conservative candidate in provincial elections in this constituency.

NEW OWNERS PUBLISH STAR OF VANCOUVER

Morning Paper Is Now in Group With Three Other Publications

Vancouver, Sept. 16.—This city's morning newspaper, The Vancouver Star, last night passed into the active control of George M. Bell, publisher of The Calgary Albertan, and his associates. Announcement of the change in ownership of The Star was made Saturday morning.

In a statement which appeared in The Star to-day over the signature of Mr. Bell, the new owner of the paper said: "Negotiations with the former publishers have resulted in The Vancouver Star passing into new hands and hereafter this newspaper will be published by The Star Publishing Company Limited, whose directors are all well-known men with interests firmly established in the city. They are G. M. Bell, Gordon Bell and R. E. Shields, all of whom have large interests in Vancouver, the latter two having been residents of Vancouver for some years, and A. R. Mackie, formerly general manager of Robert Simpson Western Limited at Regina and now of Vancouver.

FOUR PAPERS IN GROUP

"As a result of the change of ownership, The Star becomes a member of a group of influential western dailies operated under the direction of Inter-Provincial Newspapers Limited, a Dominion Company with headquarters at Vancouver, in addition to The Star controls The Calgary Albertan and The Western Mail, published at Calgary, and The Northern Mail, published at The Pas, in the heart of the Manitoba mining district.

AIDS GROWTH OF B.C.

"The Star will continue in the future, as in the past, to be essentially a Vancouver paper, having the interests of British Columbia ever uppermost in mind. Independent of extraneous influences, it will be our constant endeavor to conduct a wholesome newspaper in accordance with the best and highest ideals of Canadian journalism. Hereafter our lot is thrown in with the citizens and business interests of Vancouver and British Columbia, whose success is our determined purpose to aid in building up and whose welfare we are resolved to protect impartially, seeking only the benefit of the community and the goodwill of each and every one of its members."

MacDonald To Make Navy Statement

London, Sept. 16.—The morning newspapers here to-day said Premier MacDonald was now about to take the British public into his confidence on the naval negotiations with the United States and would issue an authoritative statement. The Daily News said this would be done through an informal talk with newspapermen at Downing Street to-day. Such an interview between the Premier and press men would be an innovation in Great Britain.

Hitherto the British Government has kept silent regarding the negotiations and virtually all news published here has come from the United States.

Death Causes Demonstration At Calcutta

Calcutta, Sept. 16.—A crowd estimated at 150,000 assembled last night in the streets and on housetops in the vicinity of Howrah, to witness the arrival of the body of Jatinranath Das, one of sixteen persons arrested in the Lahore conspiracy case, who died in the Lahore prison yesterday after maintaining a hunger strike for sixty-one days.

Cries of "Down With Imperialism" and "Long Live the Revolution" greeted the arrival of the train.

J. F. PEARCE RETURNS FROM MOOSE PARLEY

Secretary of Local Branch Visits Various Establishments of Order

J. F. PEARCE

After an absence from the city of five weeks, during which time he covered approximately 6,500 miles, J. F. Pearce, supervisor of the Local Order of Moose and secretary of the local branch, has returned to Victoria.

Leaving Seattle on August 10, his first stop was Chicago, after which he went to the "city of childhood," Mooseheart, Illinois. After a stay of the Supreme Lodge and a visit to the Yurks family (late of Ladysmith) and now wards of the Moose, he proceeded to Detroit, Mich., for the purpose of attending the forty-first annual convention of the Local Order of Moose.

The convention opened on August 18, and lasted five days, and about 35,000 members of the order were in attendance, including thirty-nine delegates from Great Britain headed by Sir John Daniels.

During the week many matters of importance to the order were discussed, numerous changes in the general laws were made, and special sessions of the Supervisors' Association were held. Plans were made to further increase the membership of the order throughout the various provinces and states.

A special session of the Pilgrims' Degree (the highest in the order) was held for the purpose of conferring the fellowship degree on a select number of members. Mr. Pearce, in company with C. E. Copeland and W. D. Taylor, all of Victoria, were the recipients of this great honor.

At the close of the convention Mr. Pearce, accompanied by Mr. Copeland and other executive officers of the Northwest Moose Association, returned to Mooseheart for the purpose of breaking ground for the $25,000 boys' building donated by the members of the northwest.

Following this historic event, luncheon was served by a number of the girl students, and a concert, with speeches, was held in the auditorium, with most of the Mooseheart children present as well as a number of the British and other prominent delegates. The programme was broadcast, and Mr. Pearce had the pleasure of saying a few words over station WJJD.

After a stay of one day in Aurora, Illinois, the return journey was made to Detroit, thence by the St. Harmon of the Northern Navigation Co. through the Great Lakes to Port Arthur, Ontario.

A stopover of three days was made at Port Arthur, after which the party proceeded by the C.P.R. to Revelstoke. A very active lodge flourishes in this place, and in addition to attending a meeting of it, three days were taken up in writing numerous applications for the order. Kamloops was the next stop, with the same routine of business, after which a trip to Merritt by motor stage was made, for a conference with the local lodge officials. Leaving again by stage a visit was made to Princeton, the thriving mining town of the interior. At this place a meeting was held, at which a large class of candidates was initiated and many applications were secured. This concluded the tour and a start was made for home.

PRISONER GETS AWAY AND HUNT QUICKLY STARTS

Seattle, Sept. 16.—Daniel Probin, thirty-seven who saved his way out of Cranbrook, B.C., jail three months ago, made another getaway here to-day. Probin, who was arrested in Portland last week and was brought here Saturday for deportation, broke from the grasp of Deputy United States Marshal Frank Anderson and escaped into office-going crowds on the street, while being taken from an automobile at the rear of the Federal building.

A man-hunt was started at once. A rush call was sent to Portland for photographs and fingerprints of the fugitive and authorities of all Pacific northwest cities were notified.

DESCRIPTION GIVEN

Probin is described as five-foot seven inches tall, weighing 155 pounds, well dressed and with black hair and brown eyes.

He was waiting transfer to the provincial prison at New Westminster on a felony sentence, when he escaped from Cranbrook, immigration officials were informed. He was to be arraigned before a United States commissioner on a charge of illegal entry into this country when he broke away to-day.

Humidity Drops to Low Mark as Temperature Soars to 78; Forest Fire Menace

Month May Be Driest on Record in Forty-four Years

With the mercury up to 78 degrees at noon and a sultry atmosphere prevailing, Victoria and district to-day suffered the lowest humidity for several weeks. Forest protection officials, viewed with alarm the continued hot and dry conditions, and F. Napier Denison, superintendent of the Gonzales Meteorological Observatory, declared that if the present situation was maintained, the present month would probably be the driest on record in the city.

As early as 9 o'clock this morning the thermometers at the observatory recorded seventy degrees and had increased eight degrees by 12 o'clock. A moderate wind from the north failed to alleviate to any great degree the hot and uncomfortable conditions in the downtown area.

NOT IN CALIFORNIA

The wind was also a source of worry to fire-fighters, as it enhanced the danger from possible fires. It was caused by an area of low pressure in California, where temperatures of 108 degrees were experienced to-day, Mr. Denison said.

In the event of this disturbed area moving northward, there was a possible chance that conditions in and around Victoria would change, he added.

The first half of this month has been the driest and warmest on record in the last ten years, the weather observer declared. Rainfall in the sixteen days has totaled .05 inches, which fell on the first day of the month. There has been no precipitation since about bright sunshine has averaged more than ten hours a day, which is very remarkable for this time of the year. September of 1918 was the driest experienced during forty-four years of observations, Mr. Denison said, but it was possible that the present month would surpass that mark.

Since the beginning of the year very dry conditions have prevailed here and the rainfall is many inches below the average. Less than ten inches of rain have fallen since January 1, making this year one of the driest ever known.

MAN LOSES LIFE IN FOREST FIRE

Vancouver, Wash., Sept. 16.—Philip Rowe, sixty-five, a rancher, was burned to death, and his sixty-three-year-old wife and their son, William, were seriously burned when a forest fire trapped them in their cabin on Bell Mountain in the northeastern part of this county, thirty miles from here, to-day.

POURED WATER ON CAR

Sheriffs deputies who brought Mrs. Rowe and her son to a hospital in Portland reported they were afraid to drive their automobile through the inferno to reach the Rowe cabin. They were obliged to pour water on their car to keep it from catching fire.

The woman and youth were so seriously burned they were unable to talk coherently of the tragedy, but officers learned the fire had been four or five miles away from the ranch when the Rowes retired last night. At midnight the flames reached their cabin and it quickly became a roaring furnace.

GREAT WIND

William Rowe asserted that by that time he had been able to get through the door of the cabin, a terrific wind generated by the forest fire hurried him twenty-five feet. Fence posts, piled some distance away, were scattered like straws against the side of the cabin.

Several other houses near the Rowe ranch were destroyed by the fire, but the occupants were reported to have escaped.

The officers returned to the fire-front after bringing the Rowes to the hospital, to set five or six other families unaccounted for in the same region.

Bell Mountain is northeast of the small settlement of Vennesberg. The district is largely unsettled.

Only a Mistake

A young girl came to the priest and confessed that she had incurred the sin of vanity.

"What makes you think that?" asked her father confessor.

"Because every morning when I look into the mirror I think how beautiful I am."

"Never fear, my girl," was the reassuring reply. "That isn't sin, it's only a mistake."

MR. BEATTY'S VISIT

ON HIS ARRIVAL HERE THIS AFTERNOON with his party of Canadian Pacific Railway Company officials, Mr. E. W. Beatty, the president of the great transportation system, must have been impressed by certain changes which confronted him as the steamer nosed her way into the inner harbor. Although much work still remains to be done before the new wing of the company's hotel will be completed, construction has progressed far enough to permit Mr. Beatty to perform the pleasing ceremony of opening two of the floors.

While the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, in common with other large corporations, realizes that the way to increase business is to meet the demands of the public, there is more significance in its increasing investments in Canada than merely selling service in one form or another. Had the company not well-founded confidence in the future of Victoria, for instance, it would not be spending $3,000,000 on its hotel. This manifestation of its confidence obviously reacts upon the general outlook of the people of this city. When such a progressive institution as the C.P.R. makes so large an investment, our own citizens should have no doubts about Victoria's future. Not only is the company's optimistic policy reflected in the addition to its hotel; the two new boats which now are being built for the night service indicate the expectation of much greater business within the next year or so. In this business Victoria as a whole will share.

The story of Canada's development, of course, very largely is the story of the growth of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Only a little more than forty years ago the idea of building a railway line through the Rocky Mountains to the Pacific Coast was ridiculed. But many of the false prophets lived to see what they regarded as a wild dream come true. They are now witnessing other developments; the Canadian Pacific Railway Company is helping to roll back the northern frontiers, pushing its railway lines into the numerous fertile areas which abound in natural wealth—a new demonstration of its faith in Canada's future.

Apart from these more material considerations, however, the visit of the President of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company and his colleagues is an event of importance to this community. It is all the more interesting this time because of the very imposing reminder of the company's new investment in Victoria as represented by the large addition to the Empress Hotel.

THE VANCOUVER STAR

THE CORDIAL WELCOME WHICH IS being extended by the press of British Columbia to Mr. George Bell, the new proprietor of The Vancouver Star, is mingled with regret at the retirement of Brig-General Victor Odlum—even though this may be only temporary—from the provincial newspaper field. During the last five years General Odlum has conducted The Star on a high standard. His lofty ideals, his sound conception of a newspaper's responsibility to its readers, as well as to the community in which it is published, were definitely reflected in its columns, and won for his publication widespread respect, and for its proprietor the highest esteem.

Although his purchase of The Star represents Mr. George Bell's first active association with the press of British Columbia, he is well and favorably known in newspaper and business circles throughout the province as the proprietor of The Calgary Albertan and several other excellent publications in the Prairie Provinces, and a former owner of The Regina Leader. The Times joins with its contemporaries in tendering Mr. Bell its best wishes for his success in the British Columbia newspaper field.

COAL AND THE TARIFF

IT IS BEING REPORTED THAT THE Dominion Government will consider the advisability of imposing a duty on the anthracite coal Canada imports from the United States—to open the market for Welsh coal on much better terms than it enjoys at present.

The relationship between the Canadian demand for hard coal and the employment it would give to Welsh miners if this country could take more of the British product, is quite clear. But any proposal to increase the duty on the coal from the United States would react to the serious disadvantage of the coal mining industry of British Columbia. At present both Canada and the United States impose a duty of fifty cents per ton on soft coal. And any interference with this tariff arrangement—tending to restrict the exchange of the commodity—would be serious for British Columbia's coal mining industry.

How serious the Government of this province regards any proposal to increase the duty on United States coal was reflected in its fight against the application for this increase made by Nova Scotia to the Tariff Advisory Board some months ago. Coal mining interests in that province asked that the tariff be increased by fifty cents a ton; but the Government of British Columbia immediately engaged counsel at Ottawa to oppose, with all the force at his command, the Nova Scotia proposal. It was pointed out at the time, moreover, that if the duty on coal were removed altogether, by both countries, exports from the Crow's Nest fields alone soon would be doubled. For, it should be borne in mind, this is a retaliatory fiscal measure.

We assume that if the suggestion is seriously considered by the Tariff Board, the Government of this province will repeat its protest. There will be every desire, of course, to do what is possible to stimulate Canadian purchases from Great Britain; but there are many other ways in which this country might assist Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas to solve the British unemployment problem without adopting a policy which would injure the coal mining industry of British Columbia.

POWER DEVELOPMENT

IN VIEW OF THE IMPORTANT INVESTMENTS which it already has made on Vancouver Island, it was to be expected that the provincial Government would extend to the British Columbia Electric Railway Company the opportunity to develop the waterpowers of Campbell River and Campbell Lakes. Although the competition for the concession was keen, it is obvious that the local concern is much more advantageously situated for the undertaking than any other applicant.

The public of this Island has a direct interest in this power development, and it will expect the Water Board, which the Legislature at its last session clothed with powers approaching those possessed by a Public Utilities Commission, to follow these developments very closely in its behalf. At the present time the British Columbia Electric Railway Company has nearly a monopoly in regard to power on Vancouver Island, and such development as it may undertake at Campbell River will strengthen its position to a very large extent.

It is obvious, of course, that our waterpowers—the property of the people—are of little use until large sums of money have been expended upon their development. But that investment by no means weakens the right of the people to fair treatment in the matter of charges for power. Consumers on Vancouver Island are of the opinion that they are entitled to rates equal with those charged by the same company on the Mainland. Hence, if this increase in the company's undertakings is to be of as much value to the public as it should be, it will be the duty of the Water Board to hold the balance fairly between the company and the consumer.

RED TAPE

IT WOULD BE SAFE TO SAY THAT very few Governments are entirely free from departmental red tape, which at times there seems to be something approaching eagerness to tie in as many knots as possible. We are reminded of this by a case with which the United States Navy Department was called upon to deal recently. It desired to preserve Admiral Dewey's flagship, the Olympia; but it was announced that it could not afford the money, and that private citizens would have to raise the funds.

It was then that the matter got entangled with the red tape of officialdom. A rich easterner offered to donate the entire sum to the Navy Department so that the old cruiser could be kept up forever without a cent of expense to the Government. But the offer had to be rejected. Presumably the navy could not have accepted this gift of money, even though it had said it could not afford it itself, without violating some legal restriction; or other. But the incident no doubt will strike most people as red tape at its worst.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

DANGERS OF THE ROAD

The Cork Evening Echo

Experience goes to show that the more cars we have, the greater the risk on the public roads. The accidents, fatal and otherwise, are increasing yearly, and there is no reason to hope for better times with the development of traffic. Many motorists are in the control of individuals who, in point of fact, should not be permitted to take charge of wheelbarrows. While such people are given liberty to drive motors, the increase in the number of motors cannot be lightly regarded.

FOREIGN TRADE AND EMPIRE TRADE

The Bombay Times of India

The Colonial Conference which was held at Ottawa in 1924 made it clear that no policy of Colonial Preference should be allowed to impair Britain's foreign trade; otherwise Britain's loss would be reflected in the colonies themselves. But succeeding Governments, despite many serious failures, have done their best to promote both trade within the Empire and trade in Europe. The present Government should keep both goals in view. Fundamentally, there is no contradiction; impoverishment of the one leads to the impoverishment of the other.

THE POLITICS OF PERU

The New York World

Politics in Peru, it would seem, are very similar to politics in the United States or anywhere else in the world. Consider, for example, this little difficulty that arose over Cornelius, the servant who was brought back from Lima by Mrs. Miles Poindexter, wife of our former Ambassador there. Cornelius, after he had been here a little while, discovered he was not paid as much as he might be, and he appealed to Don Alfredo Gonzalez-Prada, the Peruvian Charge, to know what to do about it. Was he free to leave, or must he consider himself indentured to Mrs. Poindexter? Don Alfredo assured him that he was free to leave and offered him a job in his own household. Cornelius accepted. Whereupon Mrs. Poindexter became peevish and made complaint to the Peruvian Government. Whereupon Don Alfredo received an order from his President to return the servant. Whereupon Don Alfredo resigned. But his cabled letter of resignation, oddly enough, does not confine itself to the question of this servant. It wanders as far from the immediate point as a United States Senator rising to a question of privilege; it discusses the treaty that was recently concluded with Chile over Tacna and Arica; it alleges that the present Administration has "failed in the defence of the most sacred rights of Peru," and could ill-afford to "my eagerness to protect a Peruvian in humble circumstances." And what is the answer? Why, this great pother over the humble Cornelius. Well, we don't know, of course. But if Don Alfredo were an American, we should say he was about to become a candidate or something. In fact, we would be sure of it. Wherefore we imagine there will be a lively time in Peru the next time that country holds an election.

A THOUGHT

Whoso keepeth his mouth and his tongue keepeth his soul from troubles.—Proverbs xxi 23.
Silence is learned by the many misfortunes of life.—Seneca.

Loose Ends

The battle of higher art rages on—and the fame of "Night" and "Day" spreads over the sea—referring Mr. Shelly's rare chance to economize—Sanchez Council is proved to have a soul after all—and Vancouver learns its lesson.

By H. P. W.

OF COURSE it was not to be expected in this day and age that London would be allowed to settle its artistic problems for itself. The outside world insists on helping it in the current controversy over Mr. Jacob Epstein's famous statues at the entrance to the Underground Railways House. The feverish argument over these extraordinary works has spread to the United States now and the higher-class publications over there are printing learned dissertations and interesting photographs on this unhappy subject. When you have seen the latter and gazed on the hideous forms which Mr. Epstein has raised up in old London to assault the eye and shatter the nervous system, you are bound to say that these higher forms of art are too much for the ordinary man.

I HAVE BEFORE me two large photographs, one showing the famous statue "Night," and the other its companion, "Day." "Night" is a colossal bulky figure of a woman, evidently Chinese by her countenance, with the shape of a corpse-like child across her knees, whom she seems to be soothing to sleep with a hand like a frying pan. The whole thing is a massive, crude monstrosity of indescribable, haunting ugliness. "Day" is worse. It depicts a gigantic figure, apparently male, of no known race, and limbs that are square instead of round. Standing in front of it with arms upraised and clutching at its breast is the figure of a child, also with square legs and club feet; and a face like a badly-made plum pudding. It looks like a model which some feeble-minded child had made of clay.

THIS, WE are told, is the highest expression of modern art, and all the intellectuals are strongly for it, though most of them, it is safe to say, have no idea what it means. Most people will think that such things should be displayed in private only to those who understand them, just as surgery is usually preserved for the operating room. On the other hand, there is something to be said for the utility of this modern art. Used carefully it can be made very economical, for a really artistic statue nowadays may be called "Spring at Shawinigan" or "Portrait of a Dinosaur." Thus if a series of these creations were erected in our Parliament Buildings, for instance, they would last for all time. By simply changing the label a statue could be made to represent "Mackenzie Reschling the Pacific," "The start of the P.O.E.," "The Doughboy Parade" or "Tolmie at Kamloops."

THIS WOULD be a great saving for the provincial treasury and would assure us of an up-to-the-minute record in stone of all the achievements of provincial statesmanship. If Mr. Shelly would hire a few navvies to blast out some large hunks of rock and let them punch it for half an hour with a pneumatic drill he would have statues to last for the entire life of the Government, and the saving would be so great that he might find it unnecessary to raise the gasoline tax.

THERE IS a widespread idea in this age—probably due to the imprisonment of a certain dumb animal in Beacon Hill Park—that municipal governments have no soul. I used to think that of the able Sanchez Council, but now I realize my mistake. The Sanchez Council has a soul after all. If you wish to satisfy yourself on that point go out on the Sanchez Road a mile past Lake Hill where they are putting down a new water main. There you will see that though the main runs along an avenue of charming oaks, which almost meet over the road, hardly a single tree is being disturbed. At a good deal of extra trouble all the oaks which make this stretch of the road one of the most delightful on the Island are being preserved. In some cases a few roots and branches are being cut, and in other places it is necessary to dig around the trees to make a place for the pipe, but this will not affect the tree growth. Altogether the Sanchez Council and its officials could not be more careful if the trees were in a private garden.

TOO SELDOM do you find this regard for trees among public bodies. They usually like to cut down the massive native trees that have been growing a few hundred years and plant little ones which will not amount to anything until a few more centuries have passed. Our powerful neighbor on the Mainland made that fatal blunder and is paying dear for it. It will be a long, long time before Shaughnessy Heights and the Point Grey subdivision area can be compared with most of our residential districts, and particularly with the magic countryside of Saanich.

EVERY TREE was rooted up in most parts of Vancouver by people who didn't know what they were doing, and it is pathetic to see the richer residents painfully waiting for tiny saplings to grow up around the barren wastes of their fine homes. Here the poorest man can have about his house fine oaks, maples and evergreens which would be priceless in Vancouver.

ABOUT A hundred years from now, maybe, Shaughnessy Heights and Point Grey will have clothed the nakedness of their landscape, but meanwhile, amazing as it may seem, that great city does not seem to have learned its lesson. Large areas of the native forest around Marine Drive are still being cleared, and while the great firs and cedars probably must go, for they will not stand alone, beautiful maples, alders and smaller evergreens are easy to preserve. Instead, in most places, they are ruthlessly destroyed, and the land owners proceed to plant little trees which will not reach the size of the departed giants in their lifetime. A few wisecracks have preserved some of the choice native trees and now have their reward in shady gardens which form a striking contrast to the surrounding barrenness.

This should be a lesson for us here as we expand our residential area. Every new one planted is an asset to our city and we can't have too many. It is cheering to know that the beautifully-wooded municipality of Saanich is in the hands of men who appreciate these things. It is good to see also that the water system is spreading over the peninsula. Everybody who needs water in Saanich should be encouraged to use as much of it as he wants. The more he uses the more he produces and the better it is for everybody.

TOURISTS

To the Editor:—Even our most ardent pessimists must admit Victoria is going ahead, and it should be obvious to the most casual observer that we are entering a new era of progress and expansion. The increase in weekly bank clearings alone is one conclusive evidence. The results and outlook for the tourist business never were brighter. The opportunities for making Victoria more and more attractive for tourists are great and numerous, and all of our service clubs and organizations have an open field for many lines of activity during the coming fall and winter.

Victoria's greatest selling point is our appearance. This has been stressed lately by two such undoubted authorities as Winston Churchill and Arthur Brisbane.

Some people foolishly advocate that we should Americanize our houses and gardens in outward appearance, just as soon as this is done we would lose our attractiveness in the eyes of the tourist and prospective resident.

The Mayor should be congratulated on bringing forward the Civic Centre scheme, which should be put into effect quickly.

A great improvement is needed in our parks policy, which in the past has been deplorable and futile; public sentiment demands a change.

There are still many old shacks, fences and disreputable lots, which should be cleaned up. Citizens as a whole take a pride in the appearance of the town, and with a little leadership and organization great things could be accomplished, which would put Victoria in a better position to grapple with the ever increasing tourist

Events Prove Premier King's Course Right

Montreal, Sept. 16.—Premier King, a visitor here yesterday, speaking of constitutional matters in an interview with newspaper reporters, stated recent parliamentary events in Australia had strengthened his view that he was right in asking for dissolution of Parliament when his Government met a reverse in the House of Commons three years ago. This instance, and another when Premier Ramsay MacDonald faced similar complications in Great Britain, bore out his stand, he said.

"The World's Mine Oyster," Said Falstaff

EMPEROR OF AUSTRALIA
LEAVING

JAPANESE DANCING GIRL

Why, then the world's mine oyster which I with sword will open," said a famous character of Shakespeare, but the modern version relates to going around the world in a big and comfortable steamship with no sword to open the oyster. These are days of peace and world travelers now planning their tours will be interested to know that one globe-girdling liner will call at ports hitherto omitted from her itinerary—ports rarely touched by cruising steamers. The "Empress of Australia," a 21,850 gross ton vessel, long a favorite with globe trotters, will sail from New York December 1, 1929, on the seventh annual Canadian Pacific World

Cruise. Besides making her regular visits to the highlands of the Mediterranean, to India, Japan, China, Hawaii and other fascinating places, her itinerary this time has been extended to include Bangkok in Siam, with further calls at Keelung, Taichung, in Formosa. She will be gone 157 days, visiting 81 ports and places in 24 countries.

Athens is really three towns in one—the twisted lanes of the Athens village before the Greek War of Independence, the broad straight streets of the modern capital and the interesting ruins clustering round the Acropolis representing "the Glory that was Greece." The Parthenon, one of the most interesting ruins here, was chief among the buildings which Pericles adorned the Acropolis about 500 B.C.

Bangkok, the capital of Siam, was originally built on floating pontoons or piles on the river's edge, but nowadays well-planned roads and streets radiate from the city in all directions, beautiful Buddhist temples are scattered all over the town, and the Royal Palace is one of the show places of Bangkok.

Keelung, the chief port of the Island of Formosa, is a hive of industry. Formosa is half the size of Ireland and is governed by the Japanese. In its northern fastnesses, still largely unexplored, lived the headhunters. The Japanese campaign of subjugation, however, has all but wiped out these barbarous people. The seat of government at Formosa is Taichung. Here fleets of junks, manned by coolies, transport the visitors around the town, one of the chief attractions of which is the Governor-General's garden, where the world's most beautiful tropical plants bloom in exotic profusion.

U.S. MAY HAVE SHORTAGE OF PLANE PILOTS

Washington, Sept. 16.—The United States has become air-minded, but Government authorities have discovered that only a small percentage of aviation enthusiasts can be made successful pilots.

The aeronautics division of the Commerce Department, which is in charge of civil aviation, has received in the last few weeks a great number of applications for student pilot's permits—approximately 600 a week. The number of applications in the first half of this year was placed by Clarence M. Young, recently appointed assistant secretary for aeronautics, at 14,650, compared with 10,697 in the preceding six months.

But this evidence of a desire by citizens to "take to the air" has not proved so productive of successful pilots, officials say, as only fifteen per cent of the student pilots qualify as pilots capable of handling commercial aeroplanes. A similar situation exists in the army and navy. In the army only twenty-five per cent of the students qualified last year and in the navy a slightly higher proportion. Both services, however, expect a larger percentage of successful pilots to result from training hereafter.

Despite a careful physical examination, study of the prospective student-pilots, family background and inherited tendencies and psychological tests, neither the Commerce Department nor the two military services have found an infallible test of flying ability prior to actual tests in the air. "The inherent aptitude of flying only can be learned by actual flight," said one of the Commerce Department aeronautics officials.

COSTS ARE HIGH

Other factors, however, keep down the percentage of successful pilots, the Commerce authorities assert. A major factor of discouragement, of instruction and another is that students often lose their desire to fly or their nerve, after air experience. A third obstacle to the increase in the number of pilots is becoming apparent in

PROBATES GRANTED

The following probates and administrations have been issued out of the Supreme Court here for the week ending September 14:

Ann Eliza Miller, late of Saanich, who died at Saanich, August 10, 1929; estate, $10,481.

Alfred Charles Sprinks, late of Victoria, who died at Victoria on May 22, 1929; estate, $7,339.

David Michael, late of Albin, State of Iowa, who died at Albin on June 24, 1929; estate, $1,000.

John Edward Gilroy, late of Victoria, who died at Victoria on August 10, 1929; estate, $10,185.

James Whistler Brown, Saanich, who died at Saanich on May 6, 1929; estate, $15,503; total, estate, $72,598.

John Horton, late of Victoria, who died at Victoria on July 15, 1929; estate, $2,145.

Robert Frederick Ely, late of Victoria, who died at Victoria on April 27, 1929; estate, $2,500.

Andrew Paul, late of Saanich, who died at Saanich on May 6, 1929; estate, $13,380.

The tendency of many students to make one solo flight and then quit, satisfied with that experience. In the army and navy the chief reason for failure of student pilots is actual inability to pilot aeroplanes. The entrance in the service flying schools generally have every physical qualification, but during their training even those best qualified physically may disclose lack of the aptitude to fly.

Major Young has predicted that "aircraft operations this year, if they continue at the pace set in the first six months, will be more than the previous three years combined." The Commerce Department officials are concerned over a possible shortage of pilots, and are urging filers to specialize in single fields of commercial aviation. They point out that an air mail pilot has to push his plane at high speed through bad weather and night, whereas the passenger plane filer has to be on the alert not to frighten his passengers and to avoid unnecessary hazards to their safety.

Jerusalem Again Sees Normal Conditions

Jerusalem, Sept. 16.—Normal conditions have so far returned to Jerusalem that the curfew hour has been moved from 9 p.m. to 10.30 p.m.

The Allenby Road to Tel Aviv yesterday was choked with the usual weekend promenade as in old times. Many baby carriages were seen in the promenade, which stretched from Machad Benjamin to the sea. Bathers swarmed on the beach.

Only in conversation were the bloody riots between Arabs and Jews of the last few weeks recalled.

A report received here by the Jewish Telegraph Agency from Cairo stated 200 prominent Egyptian Arabs were preparing to come to Palestine to bring about a reconciliation between the Jews and the Arabs. Among the Egyptian Arabs there is reported to be a growing feeling of dissatisfaction with the Grand Mufti of Jerusalem, who is held responsible by the Egyptian leaders for the Palestine troubles.

Herb Doctor J. F. Fitzpatrick

1109 Robson Street Phone Seymour 762

MR. J. F. FITZPATRICK, Herbalist:

Dear Sir.—About eighteen months ago my wife was taken sick with the flu. When she was able to get around the doctors said she had an internal Gland. She tried different treatments for it, but received no benefit from them.

I then looked for other resources to get her cured. One day I was speaking to a friend and she advised me to send my wife down to see Mr. Fitzpatrick, the Herbalist. I did, and after the first treatment she showed signs of improvement.

I want to say this to anyone who has Glands—just go and see Mr. Fitzpatrick, and you will receive a cure, the same as my wife has, and have a new, strong Gland.

Should anyone have doubts of this treatment, I wish they will phone me, and I will introduce them to people that know what my wife was eighteen months ago.

Thanking you, I am, yours gratefully.

PLAN JUNIOR ORGANIZATION OF STUDENTS

Ladies' Musical Club Arranges Ambitious Programme For Season
Radio Artists Among Outside Talent Engaged For Club Recitals

The Ladies' Musical Club has arranged its schedule of work for the season of 1929 and 1930 to include at least two innovations, two changes in its policy that will tend to increase the membership very greatly. The most important from an educational standpoint is the proposed formation of a "Junior Club" made up of student members of the Ladies' Musical Club, and details of which will be discussed at the earliest possible date.

The club executive is most anxious to make this phase of the club's work a success from the very start, and asks for the help and co-operation of parents and teachers in securing as many charter members as possible. RADIO ARTISTS COMING

It is with the welfare of the younger musicians in mind that the executive has secured the services of three of the most outstanding musical artists to appear on the club programmes on the evenings of October 16, November 20 and February 26.

Myron Jacobson and Bertha Poney need no introduction to Victoria audiences, as their two piano works have been one of the brightest spots in radioland. They will be assisted on October 16 by Alice Bogardus, soprano. On the evening of November 20 the Cornish trio, Peter Merenblum, violinist; Kolia Levenne, cellist; and Bertha Poney, pianist, will give a recital for the Ladies' Musical Club.

Emily Bentley Dow, who will be remembered by many who heard her play so magnificently for the club a few years ago, will give the February 26, 1930, programme, and her accompanist will assist.

STUDENTS' RECITAL
The students' recital, held over from last spring, and postponed on account of the Musical Festival, will take place at the Crystal Garden on Saturday, September 28, at 3 p.m. sharp. It will be held in the concert room, and tea will be served after the programme, for which a very small charge will be made.

It is hoped by the executive that as many as can possibly do so will secure their membership cards before the first recital. There will be some very fine talent appearing on the programme, about ten students taking part. As the board of directors for the Junior Club will be chosen from the active membership, there will be a special meeting arranged for that purpose after the student recital.

The club year books are in the hands of the printer, and will be ready for distribution on Monday, September 28, at Fletcher Bros., where a committee will be prepared to take membership dues on and after that date, up to the day of the student's recital on Saturday. Membership cards may be obtained in the meantime from Mrs. F. B. Brice or Mrs. F. G. Aldous.

In December it is the wish of the club to have the gold medallists of the Victoria Musical Festival give the programme, and this will be an afternoon concert with tea following.

CROONING HITS OF HEBRIDES TO BE SUNG HERE

Marjory Kennedy-Fraser, World-renowned Artist, to Sing Wednesday

Has Been 24 Years Collecting Exquisite Melodies of Western Isles

Songs of the Hebrides, collected over nearly a quarter of a century from the mouths of fishers, resplend and aptness in those lonely isles lying off the west coast of Scotland, will constitute the wonderful programme to be presented at the Empress Hotel, Wednesday evening, by Marjory Kennedy-Fraser and her sister, Margaret Kennedy.

In this recital, music-lovers of Victoria will have the unique opportunity of hearing an artist who has been hailed with acclaim by the discriminating audiences in London, Berlin, Paris, Vienna and the other great musical centres of Europe, and who is now on her first visit to western Canada.

OF MUSICAL FAMILY
A daughter of David Kennedy, the great Scottish singer, Mrs. Kennedy-Fraser comes of a family of born musicians. It was in 1893 that she first studied Gaelic songs, and in 1905 she first went to the remote isles of the outer Hebrides to attempt to collect from their people some of the little crooning melodies, with which they have handed down from generation to generation the history of their isles. Since that time, Mrs. Fraser has made twenty-four annual pilgrimages to the isles and, by dint of great patience and understanding, has gathered a collection of over two hundred of the Hebridean songs. Where the melody only was to be found, Mrs. Fraser's musical setting has been supplemented by words written by her collaborator, Kenneth Macleod.

A LONDON CRITIQUE
The London Times of March 29, of this year, says of Mrs. Kennedy-Fraser's recital at Queen's Hall: "The learned will tell you that Hebridean folk-songs owe their strongly defined character, which differentiates them from the other songs of Britain, to the fact that they are made for a scale that has no fourth and no seventh degree. But for our part we find it difficult to believe in science and magic at the same moment, and when Mrs. Kennedy-Fraser sings and tells her stories (as she did at Queen's Hall) science has not the remotest prospect of credence."

"She told us the story of the seal-woman, and sang her song, and then she told us how, three years ago, she herself got an answering phrase from the other songs of Britain, to the fact that they are made for a scale that has no fourth and no seventh degree. But for our part we find it difficult to believe in science and magic at the same moment, and when Mrs. Kennedy-Fraser sings and tells her stories (as she did at Queen's Hall) science has not the remotest prospect of credence."

HOUSE WEDDING OF LOCAL COUPLE

Miss Marion Davies Becomes Bride of William E. Harrison

Quantities of autumn flowers formed a fragrant setting for the wedding solemnized at 1026 Johnson Street on Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock, when Miss Marion Davies, youngest daughter of Mrs. M. Davidson, of the Victoria Street, was united in marriage to William Edward Harrison, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Harrison. Rev. J. Sharp officiated.

Given in charge by her eldest brother, Mr. Thomas C. Davies, the bride looked charming in mauve satin crepe with picture hat to match, and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations. Miss Margaret Harrison, the little flower girl, was dainty in pale blue crepe de Chine and carried a basket of pink roses. William Davies, brother of the bride, supported the bridegroom. Miss W. Spencer played the wedding music.

The reception room was beautifully decorated for the occasion, with an archway of daisies, from which hung a wedding bell, backed with gladioli and asters. The bridegroom's mother was a charming hostess in a gown of blue georgette.

The wedding supper was served at a table tastefully decorated with roses and carnations and centred with the three-tier wedding cake. The happy couple received numerous gifts, among them a silver tea service, from the staff of the New Method Laundry, where the bride was employed, also a set of cutlery from the staff of Drysdale's Sash and Door Factory, where the bridegroom is employed. The bridegroom's gift to the bride was a white gold wristlet watch, from the bride to groom a traveling case, while the gifts to the bride were a silver tea service, from the staff of the New Method Laundry, where the bride was employed, also a set of cutlery from the staff of Drysdale's Sash and Door Factory, where the bridegroom is employed. FORMER VICTORIA GIRL IS BRIDE

Miss Hilda Slavin Wed on Saturday to Peter Johnson of This City

Harvest Festival decorations formed a background in St. George's Church, Vancouver, on Saturday night for the wedding of Hilda Lauretta, daughter of Mrs. M. Davidson, of the Victoria Street, and Peter Johnson, only son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Johnson of Victoria. Rev. M. H. Jackson read the marriage service and organ selections were given by Mr. W. G. Grant.

A charming ensemble costume of beige georgette was chosen by the bride. Following the prevailing mode, the frock, which had a bodice of satinted lace, flared towards the heels at the back, and the smart coat of three-quarter length was finished with long sleeves. Similar lace faced her matching mob and showing bows of brown velvet ribbon, and her bouquet was of cream-tinted bridal roses.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. Edgar Sunderland, and was attended by her sister, Miss Kay Slavin, as bridesmaid, who wore a straight-lined frock of orchid flit crepe made sleeveless with a cape effect, with the back and shoulders of brown velvet ribbon, and her bouquet was of cream-tinted bridal roses.

The bride looked charming in mauve satin crepe with picture hat to match, and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations. Miss Margaret Harrison, the little flower girl, was dainty in pale blue crepe de Chine and carried a basket of pink roses. William Davies, brother of the bride, supported the bridegroom. Miss W. Spencer played the wedding music.

YOUR BABY and MINE

for MARY MEYER ELDERD

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

BREAKING THE CHILD'S WILL

We used to hear a great deal about it being necessary to break a child's will and there are parents to-day who feel that they have accomplished something when they get instant obedience and the child never shows the slightest spirit of opposition.

The time at which the child's developing personality leads him to defy the parent's authority is between eighteen months and three or four years. It always comes as a shock to the parent when docile Mary first says: "No, I won't," but it comes to all parents and there is trouble ahead unless the parent handles herself wisely.

If she is the type of parent who says firmly, "Well, I'll nip that in the bud, or know the reason why," then it indicates a pitched battle from then on between parent and child. If the child is weakling the parent will win soon, for the weakling's will is easily broken—he is fearful of punishment and so he gives in. But the child of strong personality, of good mentality, can't be handled that way, and if the parent persists in absolute obedience she is doomed to failure.

With the small child who is nagged and punished in an effort to wipe opposition out of her, the result is a whiny, disagreeable child who cries without reason. The child has no freedom of action, no choice of conduct. Knowing and resenting this but unable to alter it, the child simply cries. No one, not even her mother, can prevent her doing that. It is her single free expression.

If, instead, the parent says to herself sensibly, "Baby is growing up. I've got to recognize that and take it into account," she will begin to subtly alter her methods. She knows she must still hold the reins and still guide the little pony, but she does it tactfully instead of forcefully. She no longer says, "Now hurry up, it is time to go to bed." But she suggests that Mary take the dolls up and get them ready for bed, or that Mary may like a particular story this particular night about kittens because tomorrow she is going to see some new

NOURISHING THE UNBORN CHILD

The first nine months of the baby's life are among the most important. In order to direct the expectant mother in the proper nourishment of this little life that has been entrusted to her care, Myrtle Meyer Eldred has prepared a leaflet called, "Information for the Expectant Mothers." In addition to a discussion of appropriate diet and general health care for the period of pregnancy, the leaflet contains information on pre-natal influence, clothing the new baby, furnishing the nursery, supplies for home and hospital confinements and diet for the nursing mother.

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to send this leaflet to any reader who writes for it. Address your request to the "Your Baby and Mine" department of The Victoria Times. There is no charge for any of the leaflets distributed through this department, but to save the editor's time it is important that a self-addressed, stamped envelope be enclosed with each request for a leaflet.

GIRL, 13, IS GIVEN IN MARRIAGE FOR MULES

A QUEER bargain of the hill country, in which a thirteen-year-old girl was bartered off as a bride in return for a gift of four mules, a log chain and a wagon, has just reached the notice of the authorities at Hopkinsville—with the result that one man is in jail, another is about to face criminal charges, and the luckless girl is in hiding at the house of relatives.

The girl is Louise Gibbs—er, legally, Louise Green. A bride at thirteen, she says she dares not go out on the street alone for fear that her husband will compel her to go back to Detroit and live with him.

Her father, Henry Gibbs, is in jail, accused of converting the property of another.

Her husband, Ed. Green, who is forty-three years old, ten years the senior of her father, is waiting at Hopkinsville in the hope that he can get the girl to return to him. He is also vowing vengeance on Gibbs, whom he accuses of defrauding him.

It all happened like this:

Some weeks ago Green took Louise to Cadiz, Ky., and married her, showing the clerk a letter purporting to be from her father, giving parental consent. This letter, according to Gibbs, was forged, and Gibbs threatened Green with dire consequences.

Peace was made, however, when Green gave his new father-in-law two teams of mules, a wagon and a log chain. The parental wrath subsided, and Green took his bride to Detroit, where he has four children by another marriage.

Louise, a slim child weighing about 100 pounds, quickly tired of married life and left her husband. She hid in Detroit until her father arrived and brought her back home.

Green came to Hopkinsville in pursuit. Unable to get his wife back, he demanded the return of his peace offering—only to find that Gibbs had sold mules, wagon and all, for $325.

Gibbs thereupon had Green arrested on a charge of forging the letter of permission with which the marriage license was obtained. Green made peace in some way and the charge was withdrawn; and immediately thereafter Green had Gibbs arrested for selling the wagon and mules, charging that he had merely left them with Gibbs for safe keeping.

Gibbs was placed in jail and Louise went to stay with relatives. She asked the jailer to lock her up with her father, but the jail was full and he refused.

Her father, meanwhile, insists that as soon as he gets out of jail he will reinstate the charges of forgery against Green.

The county grand jury is expected to investigate the entire matter soon.

Child Hygiene Council—The Equimatt Child Hygiene Council has resumed the meetings on first and third Thursday afternoons at St. Paul's Parish Hall, after two months' vacation. At the next meeting, September 19, the first of a course of eight lectures on home nursing and first aid will be given by the president, Mrs. A. Booth. A prize is offered for the best essay dealing with the subject matter of the lectures at the end of the series.

To Present Playlet—At the Tuesday evening session of the Provincial W.C.T.U. convention, the children of the Fairfield-United Sunday School will present the playlet, "A New Alice in Wonderland."

St. John's Silver Tea—Under the auspices of St. John's Ladies' Guild, Mrs. Alex. Wilson, 1070 Amphion street, will hold a silver tea on Thursday afternoon, from 3 to 5.

Driving Force

The counsel for the prosecution was determined to shake the evidence of the defendant.

"Now, my man," he said, "you have stated that you made a three-hundred-mile journey to Chicago simply because you wanted to get there to look for a job. I put it to you that another and stronger motive brought you."

"Quite right," admitted the defendant.

"Ah! now we are getting on," cried the lawyer, very pleased with himself; "and what was the motive?"

"A locomotive," came the ready reply.

PRESIDENT BEATTY HERE TO INSPECT NEW HOTEL WING

The official opening of the building will take place, it is understood, at the time of the Yuletide Festival in December, when the entire contract will be completed.

The new wing of the Empress Hotel has reached its present stage in remarkable time.

RENUMBERING ROOMS

With the completion of the new wing, it will be necessary to renumber the rooms throughout the entire hotel building, and the room telephone system is also being rearranged to give uniform service. An office for the telephone operators has been built on the ground floor of the main building immediately below the desk office.

The numbering of the rooms will start with No. 1 at the extreme end of the new structure at Humboldt and Douglas Streets and running right through to the south wing, and there will be no more than 100 numbers to each floor. The altering of the room telephones has already been put under way and the first two floors in this respect are complete.

The new building is connected with the older structure at each floor by wide and lofty corridors, the ground floor being approached by a grand staircase.

ELECTRIC ELEVATORS

Two electric passenger elevators, which were commissioned to-day on the occasion of the arrival of the president, will serve the new wing, with entrance to the main rotunda off the tea-room, at the entrance to the ballroom.

Almost adjoining the main passenger elevators is an electric freight and service elevator, and another service elevator is located at the extreme end of the new building.

Improvements have been carried out in the main part of the hotel to conform with the design of the new wing. The palm court has been done away with and in its place has been created an attractive tea-room with fireplace. This apartment is flanked at each end and fronting on the rotunda by the newstand and check-room.

The plans for future work provide for the removal of the existing private dining-room and the construction of a grand staircase leading to the lounge and grill-room on the ground floor.

The office on the main floor will be extended in an easterly direction to give much needed space for the reservation clerks.

PRIVATE DINING-ROOMS
A number of private dining-rooms will be built on the ground floor to take care of private dinners and special functions.

FAST WORK
The contract was actually begun on February 1 of this year, so that eight months only have been required by the general contractors, Carter-Halls-Aldinger and Co. Ltd. to complete the building.

The foundations proved to be one of the most difficult phases of the entire contract. To carry the huge building, steel caissons had to be sunk to a depth of seventy feet, this contract being handled by the Kennedy, Leith Construction Company, a Victoria firm.

The new hotel wing comprises seven complete floors, containing 280 rooms and suites. There is a frontage of 203 feet on the Causeway and 230 feet frontage on Humboldt Street.

With its high dormer roof and imposing towers the new structure follows the Chateau type so familiar with some of the largest C.P.R. hotels, and is in keeping with the design of the existing building.

The main hotel and the new wing gives a total of 850 rooms for the accommodation of the company's guests. Special attention has been provided in the new wing for commercial travelers.

There are twenty sample rooms on the mezzanine floor, with eight additional on the basement floor.

These are large rooms with excellent provision for the display of goods. A bedroom alcove and bathroom adjoins each sample room.

Each of the seven floors of the new building contains thirty-six rooms and suites.

PALATIAL SUITES
The vice-regal suite in the new wing is truly a thing of beauty, elegance and comfort. In it are embodied handsome architectural designs, beautiful furnishings in old world design and modern comforts in lighting and heating.

There are five rooms in this suite, three bedrooms, a sitting-room and a dining-room. Each room has a bathroom and at the entrance to the suite is a large vestibule. Opening off the suite, although each are individual rooms, are a number of bedrooms and sitting-rooms. The suite itself is situated on the corner of the building, with a magnificent view of the gardens and the harbor.

The furnishings of the vice-regal suite were chosen with great care, and many of the expensive tapestries and rugs were sent from England. The floor of the three bedrooms are covered with a specially made carpet of twisted yarn and cut pile, of a deep blue color which tones in with the walls which are done in craquelé plaster of a light buff color. The ceilings are of an antique design and the electric light fixtures are of hand-wrought iron. The beds are made of solid oak with hand-twisted posters, while on the vice-regal twin bedsteads are hand-carved crowns. All are covered with printed English linens and handsome shot silk bedspreads of varied colors to tone in with the other furnishings of the rooms.

In the living room the floor is of solid squared oak, over which are laid valuable Persian rugs. The chairs are covered with old English tapestries, most of them hand-woven. There are two old cabinets in this room in Tudor, while modern lamps in antique stands lend an air of luxury. The windows are full length and lovely cretonne curtains cover these.

The dining room of the suite is oblong, and looks out over the harbor. The table was specially ordered and is an Elizabethan of solid oak, inlaid with squares of the same material in a darker shade. The chairs are in English haircloth, and the cabinets are done in the late Gothic style.

In one of the bedrooms of the suite is a mirror with a frame of old English tapestry, one of the few in Canada. It was ordered specially for the new wing. Most of the doors in all the rooms have full-length mirrors. The bedrooms are done in different colors of robin-egg blue, buff and blue, and mauve. All have showers attached.

In the special suites, of which there are six, is a finely-equipped pantry for the serving of meals. These pantries are fitted with electric hot plates to keep food hot. Refrigerators and a sink of special moon-metal.

The special suites are located immediately above each other in the main eastern tower and on the ground, where the flower suite is situated, and on the first, second, third, fourth and fifth floors.

The suite on the second floor will be the Jacobean suite, finished in expensive tapestries; the Italian suite will be on the third floor. Spanish suite on the fourth floor, and the Georgian suite on the fifth floor.

The walls of the special apartments are finished in Craquelé, a form of interior California stucco.

All the rooms on the first floor are exceptionally high, with high steel casement windows.

All the furnishings for the new wing were supplied by eastern firms. The carpets are being laid by David Spencer Ltd., and the curtains are being hung by the Hudson's Bay Company.

LUMBER CUT SHOWS DECLINE

Seattle, Sept. 16.—The Labor Day holiday caused a sharp decrease in the production of 217 lumber mills in Oregon, Washington and British Columbia, the week ended September 7, with only 183,260,550 feet cut, as compared with 198,217,001 feet the previous week. Orders received during the week totaled 148,160,863 feet, or 10.84 per cent under the output. Unfilled orders totaled forty-three per cent of the gross stocks on hand at the close of the week ended September 7. Prices remained fairly level.

THE SPORTS MIRROR

PICKING a winner of the Sharkey-Loughran bout of September 15 appears to be a most difficult task. From Philadelphia comes the news that Loughran, who gave up his light heavyweight title recently to enter the ranks of the heavies, has grown an inch during the last year. Loughran is past twenty-six, and this makes the growth seem a trifle unusual, but it's said the Celt's mature late.

The important consideration of this development of Loughran's is the fact that he seems to have taken on, along with increased height and weight, a greater punch. In past affairs this has been what Loughran lacked. If you could be satisfied with watching a master boxer go about the business of beating an opponent, Loughran would almost please you.

The Sharkey meeting will be more or less of a test of this new power. If he has taken on one-half of one per cent more punch than when he beat Braddock, it will be surprising. There have been nights when Sharkey was a wonder in the ring. On other occasions he resembled a lame selling plaster in the last race of the obnoxious. He has some in him, but it is always an interesting gamble whether Sharkey is going to be a wonder or an absolute flop. There is always the chance of Jack mistaking the occasion. He has come in to abuse Johnny Rioko, one night, but he only stood around and took a terrible licking.

Being on the Giant payroll these days is much like sitting on the edge of Vesuvius and waiting for something to happen. The team has not played up to its own hopes; the master mind is rolling up his sleeves and taking out the old axe.

Bill Terry, Melvin Ott, Freddie Lindstrom and Travis Jackson seem certain of their jobs, along with one or two other stars, but the other cast does not feel so sure. During the winter drastic changes are sure to be made.

During the recent Cubs-Red series in Cincinnati, trouble was expected as a sequel to the Wilson-Kolp-Donohue incident. All was calm. In this respect Jack Kennedy, sports editor of the Lowell, Mass., Sun, has some interesting comment. Here it is:

"You call it strategy; we call it psychology and everybody'll be happy. Bob Hart of this city is a National League umpire and besides, he is a big man. Back in the halcyon days Bob was a roller polo goalie and weathered many splitting sweeps of a big stick that would rend open an ordinary telegraph pole open end broken from stem to stern. Hart is an amiable chap, but under the skin he is as tough as a losing football coach between the halves."

"Well, it seems that the league managers feared a recurrence of the Cubs-Red outbreak when the two teams collided in Cincinnati. Cincinnati hinted of a 'reception' for Hack Wilson."

"When the blood rivals prepared for the opening of the new series last Sunday, Bob Hart was supposed to come east to work that Phillips-Braves game at Boston. However, surprising news came that Bob was to shift to Cincinnati instead. Bob didn't reveal his orders, but of course, but went there to work. There he met Moran and Quigley, brother umpires, who are by no means in the class of wranglers in the many art of quelling a riot. Wonder how many fans attached any significance to that fact that three of the biggest umpires in the circuit were assigned to that game? The trouble came out of the return game, but if the stonper popped off, what were Hart, Moran and Quigley supposed to do?"

A Dallas, Tex., youth, Clarence Chandler, has developed a "home-made" apparatus for retrieving golf balls from the bottom of lakes. It is a tin bucket, Chandler made a diving headgear which enables him to go under water fifty feet. Clearing a lake of golf balls, the youth moves on to another. Chandler received these ideas from watching his mother working in the kitchen. He noticed the drinking glasses when placed in the water bottom up would not fill with water and used the same principle in developing his outfit.

Theodore Gary, Kansas City capitalist, has a "long" record of golf course on his estate near Macon, Mo. His holes are patterned after difficult fairways and greens of the world's more famous courses.

Although he has collected some 300 trophies during his long career on the links, the Canadian amateur champion was the first national golf tournament in which Gardiner golfed reached the finals.

Calandria Winner Of French Stakes
Paris, Sept. 15.—Martinez Dehob' filly, Calandria, by Turbentine out of Crinens, won the classic Royal Oak stakes at Longchamps yesterday, beating Cabrio by half a length. The winner paid three and one-half to one. The race was worth nearly $20,000 francs.

Wiesbaden, Germany, Sept. 15.—The sixth game of the chess championship match between Dr. Alexander Alekhine of Paris and E. D. Bogoljubov of Tbilisi, played yesterday, was adjourned after forty-one moves, just after the challenger captured a pawn with good winning chances.

Budapest, Hungary, Sept. 15.—The twelfth semi-final round of the international chess masters' tournament was contested here yesterday and at the close Jose R. Capablanca of Cuba, who drew his game with Sir George Thomas of England, was leading Rubinstein of Poland by a full point. The Cuban is sure of a tie for first place at least.

Local Fans Are Assured of Their Favorite Sport

Capital City Will Be Included in Pacific Coast Hockey League, Along With Vancouver, Portland and Seattle; Tacoma Proposition Falls Through; No Announcement Made Regarding Local Manager; P.C.H.L. to Affiliate With N.H.L.

Local hockey fans who have been wondering during the last few weeks as to whether or not they would witness any pro hockey matches this winter can set their minds at rest as it was definitely decided to-day that the Capital City would operate a team in the Pacific Coast Hockey League, along with Vancouver, Seattle and Portland, the same clubs which formed the circuit last season.

This statement comes as a sequel to the informal meeting of the Coast League moguls held in Seattle Saturday, when plans for the coming season were talked over.

It was rumored that the Victoria franchise and players would be bought outright by Tacoma interests. This proposition has fallen through, mainly because the fact that the Tacoma backers cannot produce the necessary finances to operate a club.

Nothing definite has been decided yet as to who will manage the Victoria team or what changes will be made in the line-up. Joe Smith was the first selection last year as pilot of the Victoria club but towards the end of the playing schedule he resigned, his place being taken by Cliff O'Brien, one of the players who was out of the game through injuries. A new face will be seen this season at the head of the Victoria club.

Definite announcement of the league schedule and other details will be made following the annual meeting to be held in Vancouver on October 21.

Seattle, Sept. 15.—The Pacific Coast Hockey League will affiliate with the National Hockey League. This decision was reached here Saturday by directors of the coast circuit at what was intended to be merely an informal get-together, but developed into a special meeting. At the conclusion of the deliberations, Frank Patrick of Vancouver, league president, announced the decision to affiliate with the major circuit.

Affiliation will carry with it the adoption of some sort of draft agreement by which the N.H.L. will be able to secure players from the coast, much as the big baseball leagues now secure men from the minors.

It will be remembered that, when the new league was first organized, the simple and sufficient reason that no application had been received from the City of Seattle.

While it is still possible that something may be done in that direction later, it is hardly likely that Tacoma will be in the league this winter.

PORTLAND IN TROUBLE
The Portland situation was thoroughly canvassed at Saturday's meeting. The club there, formerly owned by Anthony Neppach, has gone through bankruptcy proceedings and its affairs are being administered by a trustee. Bobby Rowe attended the meeting as manager of last year's team. Who will control the Portland franchise this coming season and who will direct the club are matters still very much up in the air.

Frank Patrick represented Vancouver at Saturday's gathering. Stanley Patrick represented Victoria and Hugh M. Caldwell and Nate Druzman acted for Seattle.

SOCCER PRACTICE
The Victoria West Juvenile Division soccer team will hold a practice at Central Park this evening at 6.15 o'clock. All players are requested to attend.

City, Thistles and West-holmes Usher in Season With Victories

Exhibitions Good For Poor Conditions; One Goal Decides All Matches

Victoria City, Saanich Thistles and Westholmes were the winners of the opening matches Saturday in the Victoria and district football league. The City, last year's champions, got away to a flying start by their 1-0 victory over Esquimalt, while the Thistles defeated the Wests by a similar score and the Westholmes took the Five C's into camp 2-1. As the scores indicate, the teams are pretty evenly matched and some fine football is assured fans before the season closes next spring.

All the teams were handicapped Saturday by the hardness of the ground, the new balls and the hot weather. In the second halves the majority of the players began to feel the strain of running around in the sun and their play suffered as a result. However, for the first games of the season the calibre of football was good. A number of former junior and youth stars made their debut in senior company and by the manner in which they handled themselves will no doubt be able to retain their positions.

In the match at the Royal Athletic Park, between the City and Esquimalt, a goal by Claude Bissell was the deciding factor. The only score of the game came near the end of the first half, Bissell getting in close to swing the ball past the keeper of the net, DeCosta's reach out.

Throughout the entire first half, the City had a distinct edge, although they were only able to net one goal, mainly through the poor shooting of the forward line. DeCosta, the Esquimalt goalie, who performed in juvenile company last season, handled himself very well and has the makings of a low class goalie with a little more experience.

In the second half it might be said that Esquimalt were a little the better team, but they found it impossible to get the ball past Bridges, the city's veteran goalie. Sweeney, huck Esquimalt back, came closest to scoring when he carried the ball the length of the field to test Bridges with a low drive.

Robb refereed. The teams were as follows: Victoria City—Bridges; Margison, Preston, Stoffer, McEay, Ralph; Caddell, Davidson, C. Bissell, Glancy and Ezzart. Esquimalt—DeCosta; Sweeney, Joe Watt; Hoemer, Scanlon, McEay; Bell, John Watt, Stewart, McAllister and Collier.

A penalty goal scored by Wes Harper the Thistles husky full-back, in the latter stages of the first half, gave them a victory over the Victoria Wests. These teams played on a ground covered by grass at least six inches long, which considerably slowed up passes and shots, put on a very creditable exhibition.

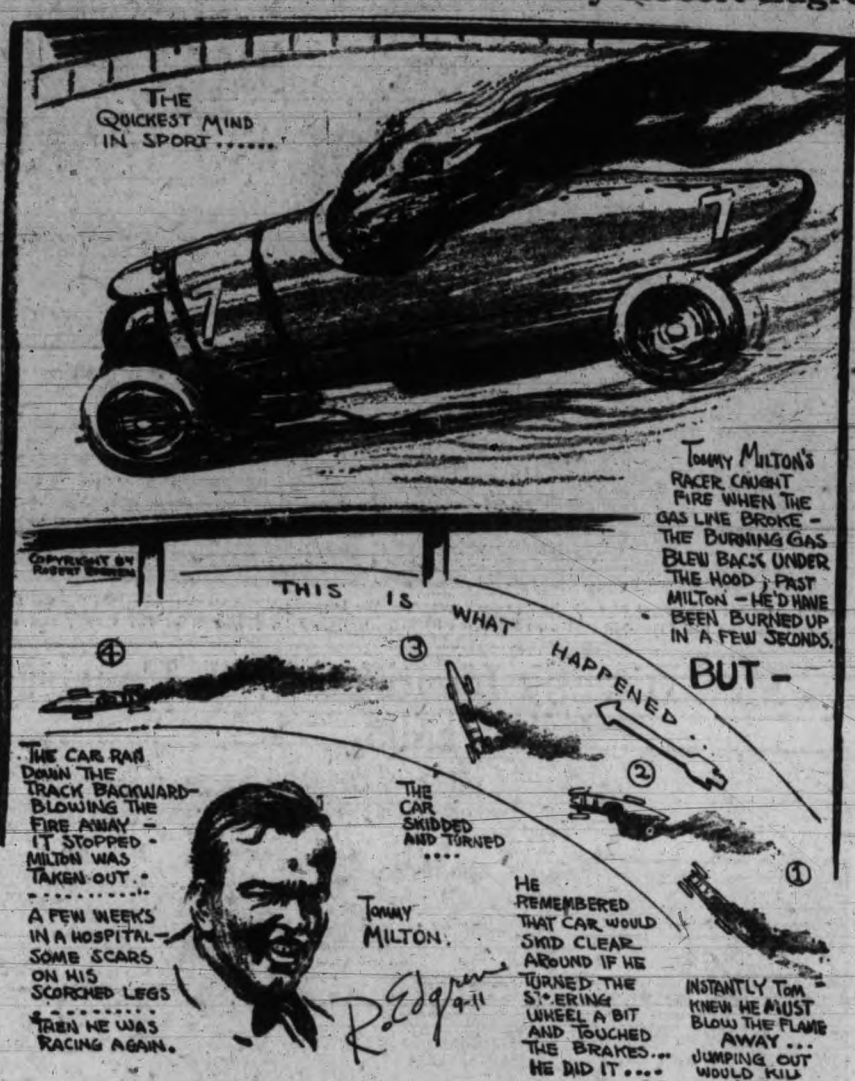

In the early part of the initial half the Wests had the best of the play, but although their forwards had plenty of chance to break into the corner column, they let them go by Ken Thompson, the greenhorn's outstanding right, had two wonderful openings to score but his shots went astray Willoughby, the Thistles' goalie, pulled off a number of fine saves at the start of the game. After they settled down the Thistles pressed with Barnes, Minnis and Ewing, driving in hot shots at Hetherington.

Just before half-time Max Williams, one of the Wests backs handled the ball in the fortiden area and the Thistles were awarded the penalty that won them the match.

In the second half, the Wests made great efforts to tie the count against the City, but the final whistle found the Thistles still leading by the lone goal. Armstrong refereed. The teams were as follows: Victoria—Hetherington, Lloyo, Williams, Borden, Feden, Fasmora, Mulcahy, Robinson, Youson, Bell, Thompson. Thistles—Willoughby, Joe Crowe, Harper, Viggers, Jim Crowe, Esler, Phillips, F. Price, Minnis, Barnwell, Ewing.

Veteran Baseball Organizer Dies

Seattle, Sept. 15.—Ending a long career in the realm of sports, John Sloane Barnes, seventy-four, died here to-day at the home of his daughter, Mrs. P. C. Kelly.

Barnes was known as the father of baseball in the west, having organized what is now the American Association with Charles Comiskey and the old Pacific Northwest League.

Barnes managed the baseball teams of Minneapolis, St. Paul, Spokane and Portland. He won pennants with the last two clubs.

Barnes was born in County Tyrone, Ireland, in 1855 and came to America when six years old.

finished in last position last season, got away on the right foot by their victory over the Five C's. However, it might be said, that although they lost the game, the churchmen hid the best part of the play, but they just failed to get the "breaks." Soon after the start of the first half the C's came within an ace of scoring, Sands hitting the crossbar with a shot that had goal written all over it. The C's were giving a fine exhibition of combination and good football, but the majority of their rushes failed to get past Michael and Campbell, the Westholmes' strong backs.

Twenty minutes after the kick-off the Westholmes went into the lead on McNaughton's goal, after he had taken a pass from Sneddon. The Joker's ended the scoring for the first half.

It was not long after the start of the second half when the C's joined the count, Burgess taking a pass from Bradshaw, to beat Henley. The Joker's again took up the offensive, and after a number of dangerous plays around the C's goal, McNaughton 'banged home the leather for the winning counter.

McMillan refereed. The teams were as follows: Jokers—Henley; Campbell, Carmichael; Hunter, D'Arcy, Clark; McNaughton, Rose, McKennie, Sneddon, Stickney. Five C's—Parishar; Reg Shanks; Tuckwell; Cockin, McConnell, Quinn, Bob Shanks, Sands, Burgess, Bradshaw and Franklin.

Intense Heat And Cyclones Hamper Football Matches

For Third Saturday in Succession Old Country Players Forced to Play Under Strenuous Conditions; Arsenal Surprises by Overwhelming Victory Over Burnley; Several Upsets in Scottish League; Johnstone Does "Hat Trick."

London, Sept. 15.—For the third Saturday in succession football matches in England have been played in cyclones, though the soccer displayed was anything but cyclonic. The teams were unnerved by the extreme heat which still affects England, while, in the high wind, the ball became an elusive thing. Fifty thousand people packed the Highbury stands to see Arsenal defeat Burnley by 6-1, in an English League First Division match.

Major Seagrave Is Winner Of Volpi Trophy

Venice, Italy, Sept. 15.—Major R. H. O. D. Seagrave piloted his Miss England to victory in the finals of the Count Volpi Trophy motorboat race here yesterday. The Miss America V. Seagrave's only rival, withdrew after the second lap. The Miss England covered the six laps of thirty kilometres in 16 minutes 2-5 seconds.

Burnley at the opening made a determined attack in which Beel was prominent. The Arsenal defence held out and then set by Waterfield let out in Julme, who gave the Arsenal their first score. Inside of three minutes both Lambert and Jack netted and then five minutes later James, after a great solo effort, made his own opening goal, on a lovely low shot. Arsenal were thus four goals ahead twenty minutes from the start of the match. Lambert increased the Arsenal score ten minutes after resumption. Burnley scored the count, Bruton, in a desperate last minute rally, after Page had hit the bar. The Burnley forwards were good but were badly supported by the defence, who were unreliable.

WEDNESDAY ATONE
The Wednesday atoned for their failure against Arsenal on the previous Saturday by beating Aston Villa and beating Aston Villa by 3 to 1 on their own freehold before 45,000 spectators. Burgess' header sailed into the Villa doorway in the twelfth minute of the game when he diverted a free kick cleverly. The Villa responded with several sharp attacks. Chester hitting the scaffolding but being out of luck. The Wednesday had their one goal lead at half time. The Villa were toppled over in the opening phase of the second half, Allen dropping the Wednesday's second brick with a hot shot. Two minutes later the same player's head pushed the ball past the Villa goalkeeper to put the Sheffield club three to one ahead. A foul against Walker gave the Villa a spot shot from which Chester scored. The Wednesday did not slacken up and after a successful but the Villa team stood up defiantly till the end and prevented further scores.

Scott's Bout With Campolo Is Postponed

Giant Argentine Has Injured His Back; Will Be Staged a Week To-night

All-star Card at Philadelphia Wednesday; Griffith to Meet George Cook

New York, Sept. 15.—Another postponement of the Phil Scott-Victoria Campolo bout has robbed the United States boxing calendar of its principal attraction this week.

The definite postponement of the bout, scheduled for Ebbets Field on Wednesday, was announced yesterday by the office of Hummer J. Fugazy. The postponement was asked by Campolo, whose training has been badly interfered with by an injury to his back. The giant Argentine asked that the fight be set back to a week to-night so he could have a few more days in which to train. Fugazy indicated he was agreeable to this proposition and will ask the New York State Athletic Commission to approve the new date.

With this card off the books Philadelphia will take the place of the week. Taylor and Gunwile have an all-star card at the Phillies ball park on Wednesday night. Benny Bass, Philadelphia junior lightweight, meets Armando Santiago, of Cuba, in the ten-round main bout. Bruce Flowers, new Rochelle negro lightweight, is matched with King Tut, Pete Meborn, Seminole Indian junior lightweight, in the semi-final. Philadelphia, meets Pinky Kaufman, Hartford, Conn., lightweight in two other ten-rounders.

At the Chicago stadium Friday Tuffy Griffith, Sioux City heavyweight, who knocked out Ludwig Haymann, of Germany here last week, meets George Cook, Australia, in a ten-rounder. Al Pay versus Al Friedman, and Salvatore Tugliorello versus Pete Wistors, are the other feature bouts.

Bushy Graham, of Utica, N.Y., and Andy Martin, Boston featherweight, clash in the Boston Garden's wind-up on Friday night.

Winnipeg, Sept. 15.—Steps will be taken by the newly-formed British rugby union to confer with the other British Dominions' unions with a view to participation in the Olympic union.

Another matter which will receive immediate attention of the union will be the opening negotiations of a tour by a Japanese team. Bert Henderson, secretary-treasurer, will immediately open the matter with the president of the Waseda University, Japan. The union will get in touch with other unions of the Dominions regarding suggested inclusion of a British rugby team at the games at Hamilton, Ont., this year. The City of Hamilton has already offered to guarantee the expenses of the teams participating in such a tourney.

A splendid touch to the convention was the short but impressive service held at the Cenotaph here on Saturday. Eyle Smith, president, laid the wreath on the pillar of memory. By resolution of the Union this ceremony will be observed in any city in which the annual meeting of the union may be held during future years.

Fraser Mills Tie Up Series For Ball Title

Bellingham, Wash., Sept. 15.—Fraser Mills, B.C. champions, won Sunday's baseball game against Pacific Trolley, of Seattle, in a Pacific Trolley-west title series, by a score of 11-4. Each team has now won two games. In a double bill on Saturday at Vancouver, Seattle won the first game 6-3 and Fraser Mills the second, 4-3.

Lyn Patrick And S. Marling Lead

Sportsmen's sons showed the way in the second tournament held by the junior members of the Colwood Golf Club on Saturday, when Lyn Patrick, son of Lester, the well-known hockey manager, and Sandy Marling, son of the Colwood professional, took first and second honors respectively. Patrick completed the course with a net seventy-six, while Marling finished four strokes behind him.

The GROWTH

THE GROWTH OF HERMAN'S has been phenomenal. Although our president, Mr. J. W. Herman has been associated with the women's wear business for a great number of years, and is regarded as one of the great outstanding figures in the trade—a recognized and undisputed style authority. It was not till 1927 that he conceived and formulated the policies that have made Herman's now so prominent in the world of fashion. In that year Mr. Herman joined forces with Mr. G. L. Plant, and the first store was opened at 770 Granville St., Vancouver. This store, showing super-smart styles in super-smart settings in a store the acme of dress—selling coats, suits and dresses—the apex of style—the equal of the exclusive creations of high-priced, top-notch specialty salons—at popular low prices, immediately caught the fancy of the public, and within a few short weeks, became recognized as the leading ladies' store where alone authentic advance styles at genuinely low prices could be obtained. The Herman's Charge Service, too, was a very potent factor in the success of this first store, and so numerous were the demands from Vancouver Island, that in the Fall of 1928, the Victoria store, 735 Yates St. was opened. That was followed very shortly by the opening of a very beautiful store in Nanaimo, at 136 Commercial Street, and in August last the Calgary store at 334—8th Ave. W.—being the first link of the eastward chain—was opened. Then, only this last month, the established high-grade ladies' wear business of Best's, in the Roger's Building, Vancouver, was acquired by Herman's, thus forging five most important and imposing links in a chain intended ultimately to extend from coast to coast.

The REASONS

THE REASONS FOR THE RAPID GROWTH OF HERMAN'S may be summed up in the policy of the House. Individuality and distinctiveness throughout—no two garments the same. Every newest style, color and material—always weeks, and many times months, ahead of others. Finest replicas of New York's and Paris' latest successes on sale within a few days of their creation at these world centres of fashion. It has always been possible for milady of the unlimited purse to obtain distinctive and exclusive creations of this description, but it remained for Herman's to put this refined, exclusive and characteristic attire, with the personal note in it, within the reach of ladies of moderate means. Herman's chain store buying power puts them into a position to purchase on terms impossible to others, and to sell to you at prices beyond competition. Moreover the Herman 12-Pay Plan makes it easy for you to purchase as and when your wardrobe needs replenishing, without regard to the condition of your bank account. This charge system allows you to spread your payments over a period of three full months without interest or any carrying charges whatsoever, thus enabling you to pay out of income as you receive same. These factors, together with unfailing courtesy, service with a smile, a recognition that no customer complains without reason and that all complaints must be rectified at once are some of the reasons contributing to the immediate, increasing and maintained success of the Herman's chain, selling fine apparel for women, but Herman's feel very strongly and appreciate most highly the intense loyalty and earnest co-operation of each and every member of their staff, without which this outstanding success would have been impossible.

CONFERENCE ON RADIO CHANGES IS EXPECTED

Federal-Provincial Discussion of Commission's Recommendations Probable

Fall Meetings of Dominion
Tariff Board Soon to Be Announced

Ottawa, Sept. 16.—Political Ottawa looks forward with a great deal of expectancy to the developments here during the next few weeks. Canada's position at Geneva in opposition to the pact proposed before the League of Nations for financial assistance to powers which are victims of wars of aggression has directed attention to the international relations of this country. Then, too, preparations are going ahead for the arbitration proceedings over the schooner "Im Alone" incident. The conference scheduled here for October 2 of the Federal Government with the Premiers of Ontario and Quebec over power rights on the St. Lawrence has an international flavor also because of difference of opinion in the Dominion and the provinces have to be straightened out before Canada can take any further steps relative to the St. Lawrence Deep Waterways.

RADIO DEVELOPMENTS
In the domestic field the report of the Radio Commission will occupy much attention. The report recommends public ownership of radio broadcasting. It is regarded as almost certain the Cabinet will call in the provinces to discuss the proposals.

Further conferences are not unlikely between Alberta and the Dominion respecting the return of the natural resources. The new Saskatchewan Government, once it gets firmly established, will also likely move in the same direction.

NEW GRAIN ACT

The Canadian Grain Act, which has been so extensively amended from time to time, is to be entirely rewritten for the next session of Parliament and it is understood Hon. James Macdonald, Minister of Trade and Commerce, whose department has supervision over the grain movement, will call upon the new Grain Board to report as to what changes it would recommend in the light of the recommendations submitted by the Saskatchewan Grain Inquiry Commission.

TARIFF DISCUSSION

Overshadowing all the questions, however, is the ever-present one of the tariff. The fall schedule of cases to be heard by the Tariff Board will soon be announced. The technical staff of the board has been hard at work all summer rewriting the iron and steel schedules, so the natural conclusion to be drawn is that if the Government decides to stiffen up the tariff to meet the new United States tariff, everything will be in readiness as far as the iron and steel industry is concerned.

NO BLANKET GUARANTEE

Members of the Government over the week-end pointed out that the pronouncement of Sir George Foster at Geneva in opposition to the pact for financial assistance to members of the League of Nations which are the victims of aggression was the same policy the Canadian Government had been pursuing for some years.

Canadian Parliament would decide them on their merits. That was the argument advanced in Government circles in connection with Article 10 of the League Covenant. The difference in Canada's attitude and that of Great Britain on this point will doubtless be one of the subjects discussed when Premier Ramsay MacDonald visits Ottawa next month.

More Prizes For Dahlia Show At The Armories Wednesday

In connection with the dahlia show to be held at the Armories on Wednesday and Thursday of this week, several special prizes have been donated since the list was brought out. Miss Jessie Seal, the largest dahlia grower in California, has offered tubers to the value of $500 for three blooms of Elmer Vanderwerf. As this fine dahlia is very largely grown here, there is sure to be keen competition for this award.

The San Francisco Dahlia Society has offered a silver medal for the best collection of California-raised varieties, nine blooms, nine varieties.

A cup donated by F. O. Nobbs has been offered for the best dahlia in the show. Another very fine cup has been given by Major Niven for the largest dahlia in the show. TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

(By Branson, Brown and Co. Ltd.)

Winnipeg, Sept. 15.—Wheat—A continued lack of export business and a more favorable outlook for the Argentine crop with general rains the last few days, the local market, after holding very steady, the first half day, finally gave way to a little hedging pressure and prices sank lower than the close Saturday, the October leading the decline.

Trade volume was not large, but the buying power was very ordinary and practically all local, while some tired holders were throwing their supplies overboard. A little export business in Manitoba was reported from New York, but nothing was worked out of this market.

Liverpool closed 1/4 lower to 1/2 higher after opening 1/2 to 1/4 lower, which was about as due. Buenos Ayres also closed after a week opening. The rains in Argentina appear to have been pretty general, but rather light in some areas, but the weather is still unsettled and further precipitation is forecast, all of which has changed the outlook in that country for the present at least.

Very little interest was displayed in wheat, with export business reported over the week-end. Local shippers were taking the odd lots of all grades at spreads unchanged for the top grades, but somewhat lower for the low grades. Feed wheat, which has been selling at a flat rate of 80 cents per bushel, was dropped 3 cents to 77 cents. Millers are doing nothing.

There was a fair demand for durum and spread on some grades, but they were slightly better. World shipments last week totaled 13,470,000, of which 6,690,000 cleared from North America. On passage supplies decreased 1,000,000. The market closed 3/4 to 1/2 higher, and right on the bottom 3/4 to 1/2.

Coarse grains—A good interest in oats and a good business is going on with eastern Canada daily. Barley continues neglected and prices are too high for export. Malsters, however, are active and are taking a lot of desirable grades. Rye continues quiet with a very poor demand from all quarters. Oats closed 1/4 lower to unchanged, barley 1/4 to 1/2 lower to 1/4 higher.

The day market was a little firmer, closing 1/4 to 1/2 up, but there was not much going on.

DOROTHY DIX

MOST men and women marry to get companionship. The thing that lures them into the bondage of matrimony is neither romance nor the sex appeal. What they fall for is the prospect of getting some one to whom they can talk endlessly. Somebody who will laugh at their jokes and encourage their stories. Somebody who will listen with bated breath while they tell all the details of their daily lives and what they said to the boss and the boss said to them, or how they got a bargain that was marked down from $5 to $4.98. Somebody to whom they can tell all their hopes and plans and ambitions, who will extol their triumphs and blame somebody else for their failures.

That is the sort of companionship that every man and woman, who enters into the holy estate, expects to find in it, but few ever realize their fond hopes. After the honeymoon has passed, a deadly pall of silence settles down over the great majority of homes and husbands and wives have nothing to say to each other beyond a perfunctory discussion of bills and the children and the routine business of existence.

It is a rare thing to see a married couple who take any genuine pleasure in each other's society, and who can pass an enjoyable evening chatting with each other. On the contrary, drop in for a call on the average husband and wife and you will find them sitting up as mute as dummies, and it is never any trouble in any public place of amusement to pick out the married people. They are the ones who are reading the theatre programmes through from cover to cover and apparently memorizing the menus in restaurants.

Yet these men and women are not dull nor stupid nor averse to the sound of their own voices. Many of them are brilliant conversationalists, and so the question arises: Why does the man who keeps the dinner table in a roar abroad only open his mouth to put food in it at his own table? Why does the woman who is gay and chatty and entertaining to strangers make no effort to entertain her own husband?

I have asked a number of men and women to try to solve this problem of why husbands and wives don't talk, and here are the answers that I got:

One husband said: "I don't talk much at home because I can't trust my wife's discretion. She blabs everything she hears, and I dare not tell her anything of the slightest importance."

"I am awfully interested in my work and nothing would give me keener pleasure than to be able to talk it over with her, but I can't do it because she would tell every detail to her mother and her sisters and her cousins and her aunts and her dear 500 friends, and it would be all over the place by tomorrow. So I have learned to hand out a very diluted brand of domestic conversation that is interesting neither to her nor to me and we fall back upon the evening papers in place of holding a talkfest."

Another husband said "I have learned to censor my conversation because my wife is jealous and makes scenes and puts the worst interpretation on everything I do. I would like to tell her about what a good time I had when I have been to a stag dinner and repeat to her some of the funny stories I heard, but if I did she would turn the affair into a perfect orgy and I would have to listen to a tirade against the wicked and abandoned companions I was with."

"I would like to tell her when I meet some middle-aged woman who was a friend of my boyhood and whom I took to lunch, but I can't, because she would have a spell of hysterics over my having grown tired of her and falling in love with another woman."

"I would like to tell her about what a fine, brave young girl my private secretary is, and how I have raised her wages because she has to support an invalid mother and a lot of little brothers and sisters, but if I did I would be accused of leading the double life, so I protect myself by hiding behind a barrage of silence."

Said another husband: "I don't talk at home because I find that I can't say anything without starting something. Even my most innocent remark leads to an argument, and before I know it we are going it, hammer and tongs, and, believe me, I get plenty of fighting in my business without wanting to supplement it with a domestic scrap as soon as I go home."

"I can't correct the children without my wife violently espousing their side; I can't make a suggestion about the management of the home without her considering that I have offered her a deadly insult. She takes everything as a personal criticism, and so that makes conversation at home a too-strenuous adventure for a tired business man to engage in."

Said another man: "When I was first married I used to tell my wife everything, but it didn't take me long to find out that when I confessed to her some foolish thing I had done, or some mistake that I had made I would never hear the last of it. She would nag me about it and remind me of what a poor, weak creature I am, and what poor judgment I have."

"Once I lost a few thousand dollars in a speculation. Another time I helped out a poor, old school-fellow. And for thirty years she has thrown in my teeth, every time she has wanted anything we couldn't afford, these shining examples of how I threw away money that my poor family needs."

"Therefore, I have learned that silence at home is golden, and that what a wife doesn't know she can't nag you about."

Said another man: "I never tell my wife of any of my plans because she always pours cold water on them and croaks failure until it breaks down my morale and takes every particle of enthusiasm and confidence out of me, but I often think of how wonderful it would be if I could only talk things over with a wife who believed in me and bolstered up my confidence in myself."

How about it, wives? Do any of these caps fit your bobbed heads?

Writer Knew How To Make Vacations Count

Francis Parkman knew how to have fun with a purpose. He was a New England lad, whose parents lived in Boston. Since he was not very strong, it was decided to send him to live on his grandfather's farm for a few years, so that he might have an outdoor life.

He went to school in the neighboring village, and all his vacation time was spent in the woods that joined his grandfather's farm.

The first summer he was there, he decided that just wandering around in the woods was no fun. He began making a collection of minerals. Every time he came home from the woods he brought new pieces for his collection in his knapsack, and he studied up about them in a big book his grandfather had.

The following summer it was insects. He made up a fine collection of insects as any boy could possibly want. And then he found some flint arrowheads left by Indians and he became greatly interested in hunting for Indian remains in the country round about.

His interest in the Indians grew and grew. When he was a big boy and went to college, he spent his summers in New York and Canada studying the tribes there and following old trails. When he grew a little older he became famous for his books about the early days of North America. Two books every boy and girl should read sometime are "The Oregon Trail" and "The Old Regime in Canada." He was born 108 years ago to-day.

To-morrow's Horoscope

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 17, 1929

Astrologers read this as a day of conflicting planetary influences with strong benefic aspects early in the morning and after sundown.

The planetary rule is beneficial for men who will find that they are happiest in domestic tasks or social activities. It is not an altogether lucky wedding day, although happiness should attend those who marry before noon.

While this configuration prevails the temptation to receive may be easily accepted and for this reason it is well to be on guard in financial matters.

Residence is in a place read as most unfavorable to the navy which must fight for its prestige in national defence plans. It is not a lucky day for starting on long sea voyages, especially if there is to be exploration of little known places. Many storms and heavy losses may be expected on the seas as the autumn advances, for unusual weather conditions are foretold.

Educators, reformers, preachers and all who are interested in world betterment are subject to stimulating influences at this time.

The stars promise much credit and added fame for the President of the United States and his cabinet.

American diplomats continue under a rule of the stars making for many tests and problems of international moment. As the autumn quarter approaches the aspects promise prosperity and extraordinary business developments.

Astrologers long have predicted union of commercial interests on the largest scale ever attempted, due to the planetary influences which encourage co-operation.

Persons whose birthdate is 12 may have serious problems to meet in a year that brings many blessings through family ties. Children born on this day probably will be studious and retiring. Many subjects of this sign attain leadership. Peter Schuyler, first mayor of Albany, N.Y., was born on this day, 1657. This was also the birthday of Lucius Q. C. Lamar, 1828, associate justice of the U.S. Supreme Court, and of de Condorcet, 1748, noted mathematician.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

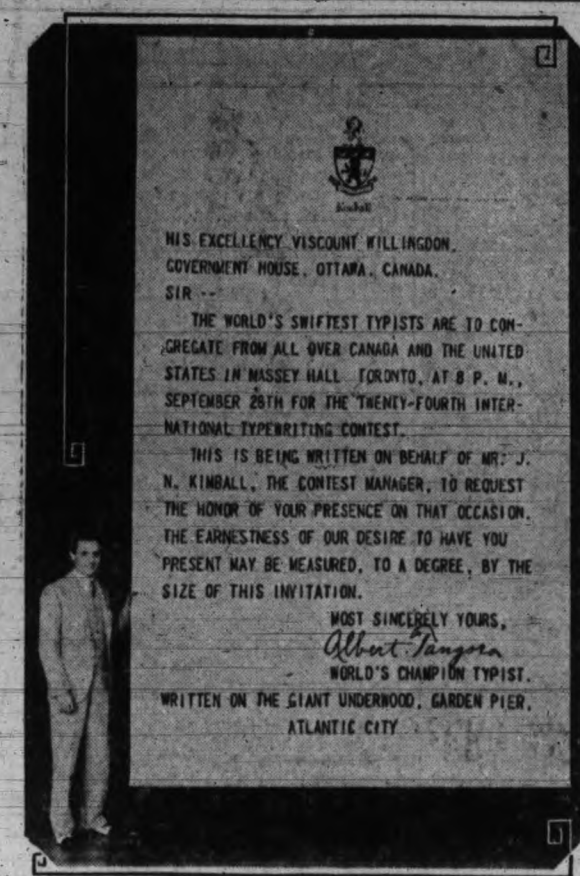

"Substance" was the subject of the lesson-lesson in all Christian Science churches and societies on Sunday.

"How precious also are thy thoughts unto me, O God; how great is the sum of them." (Psalms cxxxix, 17) was one of the Scriptural texts contained in the lesson-lesson.

Following the reading of the Bible texts, passages were also read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy. One passage being the following from page 275: "All substance, intelligence, wisdom, being, immortality, cause, and effect belong to God. These are His attributes, the eternal manifestation of the infinite divine Principle, Love. No wisdom is wise but His wisdom; no truth is true, no love is lovely, no life is life but the divine; no good is, but the good God bestows."

Invitation, Fifteen Feet By Nine, Goes to Governor

HIS EXCELLENCY VISCOUNT WILLINGDON,
GOVERNMENT HOUSE, OTTAWA, CANADA.

SIR --
THE WORLD'S SWIFTEST TYPIST ARE TO CON-GREGATE FROM ALL OVER CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES IN MASSEY HALL, TORONTO, AT 8 P. M., SEPTEMBER 28TH FOR THE TWENTY-FOURTH INTER-NATIONAL TYPEWRITING CONTEST.

THIS IS BEING WRITTEN ON BEHALF OF MR. J. N. KIMBALL, THE CONTEST MANAGER, TO REQUEST THE HONOR OF YOUR PRESENCE ON THAT OCCASION. THE EARNESTNESS OF OUR DESIRE TO HAVE YOU PRESENT MAY BE MEASURED, TO A DEGREE, BY THE SIZE OF THIS INVITATION.

MOST SINCERELY YOURS,
Albert Tangora,
WORLD'S CHAMPION TYPIST.
WRITTEN ON THE GIANT UNDERWOOD, GARDEN PIER, ATLANTIC CITY.

An invitation written by Albert Tangora, world's champion typist, was forwarded to-day to His Excellency Viscount Willingdon, at Ottawa, urging him to attend the twenty-fourth annual International Typewriting Contest, which will be held at Toronto on September 28.

The invitation was written by Tangora on behalf of J. N. Kimball, the contest manager, and transcribed on the giant Underwood typewriter on display at the Garden Pier, Atlantic City. The missive was actually typed on nine by fifteen-foot stationery.

The typewriter on which the letter was transcribed is a working enlargement of the standard Underwood machine and is operated electrically from a master keyboard of the usual size.

It cost $100,000, is twenty-one feet wide, eighteen feet high, weighs fourteen tons and stands on a concrete base eight feet deep. Its key caps are seven inches in diameter, its platen nine feet six inches long, and five feet five inches in circumference. The carriage weighs two tons, the type bars forty-five pounds each.

Canadian girls now hold the two world's titles to be contested for at the International. They are the world's amateur, held by Irma Wright of Toronto, and the world's school novice championship held by Wilma McBride of Calgary, Alberta.

Explorers Find Traces Of Frobisher Men On An Island In the Arctic

Sydney, N.S., Sept. 16.—A clue to the unsolved mystery of the fate of five men left on Kadlunarn Island by Sir Martin Frobisher in 1576 is reported by Capt. Donald R. MacMillan on his return here from an exploration voyage to Ral-fin Land. On an island in Countess Warwick Sound the explorer's party of Arctic voyagers discovered an ancient stone house, which the Eskimos said was the work of white men. Inside were the bones of a bear and other evidence that it had been used as a shelter. The age of the moss and other particulars pointed to the dwelling being contemporary with Frobisher.

Kadlunarn Island also was visited, and the party found in a surprisingly good state of preservation the house built by Frobisher in Queen Elizabeth's days. Digging in the earth floor, they discovered pottery and other relics belonging to that period, and traces of the ship ways down which the intrepid explorers launched the boats they built after their ship had crumpled in the ice.

CRUSHED BY ICE
As it had been supposed that the five men left behind by Frobisher on one of his three voyages, who attempted to build a fort to protect the supposed gold mines, had been killed by Eskimos, careful inquiry was made among the natives, revealing a tradition that the white men were not slain, but built a big boat and set out on their perilous return to England, and relies now found by the MacMillan party indicate they had proceeded only about fifty miles when their frail craft was crushed in by ice-bergs and one or more escaped ashore and built the shelter on the shore of Countess Warwick Sound.

YOUTHS FIND
MYSTERY MAN
Local Lads Get $10 Apiece
From Mr. Majestic on Douglas Street

Two Victoria boys who formed their first partnership on Saturday and came to town with the fixed intention of scooping every man dressed in grey were successful in their efforts, for at 5:30 o'clock they found a stranger on Douglas Street who showed more than the usual interest in their salutation: "Are you Mr. Majestic?" They had copies of the Majestic radio folder in their possession, and soon they were on their way home with a crisp new $10 bill apiece. The boys were Charles Brown of Ralph Street and Kenneth Rickman of Kent Road, Seven Oaks.

On Friday and Saturday afternoon Mr. Majestic had been strolling around the business section and saw any number of men dressed in grey suits accosted by ardent hunters. The two boys who caught him on Saturday had traversed every street that he had covered, from the Hudson's Bay Company store to the Post Office, and from Government Street to Blanshard Street. A minute before his capture on Douglas Street a man had loomed at him with keen scrutiny, and within twenty feet of the spot the boys stopped him and collected the $20.

Continuing the campaign being conducted by Kent's and Sommers's, the two Majestic radio dealers in Victoria, Mr. Majestic, "The Mystery Man," is again downtown between the hours of 3 and 6 to-day with a $10 bill to give away, and if he is not caught, $10 will be added each day until he is found. The campaign will continue for the next two weeks, finishing with a grand award of a Majestic Radio for the final two days.

FIRE MENACE PERSISTING

Conditions as Dangerous Now as They Have Ever Been

Up to September 14 British Columbia had been the scene of 1,851 forest fires this year compared with 1,463 fires in the same period last year, and 1,341 in 1927. It is reported by F. E. Caverhill, chief forester, hazardous conditions remain in some sections of the province, continues the chief forester, who states as follows:

"At the end of last week some relief from extreme hazard occurred in the southern interior, but a recurrence of high winds, low humidity and higher temperatures has again brought on dangerous conditions. Frosts in some sections have killed the vegetation, and this has added to the hazard."

"Throughout the remainder of the province there has been some increase
